WAR BULLETINS

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The Nazi-controlled Vichy radio today claimed that German troops on the Stalingrad front now are before the last belt of fortifications, 13 miles from the city.

(This claim was not confirmed by any reliable source.

(The Soviet high command said all attacks on the approaches to Stalingrad had been repulsed.)

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—Fresh outbreaks by French patriots were reported today in a Soviet official communique which said hand grenades were thrown into a column of Nazi Storm troopers marching in a Paris street, killing five and wounding nine.

Another attack was reported in Bordeaux where a coastal defense station was attacked by loyal Frenchmen who seized a quantity of arms and ammunition.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Possibilty of having the school children's vacation in the winter, and school sessions through the summer is being considered in Philadelphia. The fuel situation would cause the change if it is made.

Pa Newc is told that the weather conditions are delaying the local tomato crop harvest. Wet weather and lack of much sunshine are preventing the tomatoes from ripening rapidly, and tomatoes are not so plentiful as yet.

If your lawn has gotten a little run down, now is the time to rebuild for next year, County Agent Harold R. McCulloch states. A little top soil, mixed with seed and fertilizer of a good commercial variety, will work wonders, he states.

Work of resurfacing and oiling Highland avenue extension, the route through Highland Heights and on to New Wilmington, has been completed. Traffic over the route is still at a cautious pace however.

Work of lifting the street car rails and filling the grooves in the street on South Mill street between Washington street and the Neshannock river bridge has been completed to such an extent that normal traffic is allowed in the thoroughfare.

Out in the woods of the county the leaves are beginning to show signs of autumn hues already, Pa Newc discovers. Some of the leaves are already a golden brown.

Apparently no arrangements are being made for any program in New Castle in observance of Labor Day, a week from Monday. Production in the industries of the city will probably continue as usual during the holiday as in many other communities.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Plunging hundreds of miles deep into the heart of industrial Germany, the Royal Air Force last night carried out a "concentrated and effective" raid upon the hitherto untouched city of Kassel, the air ministry announced today.

Other heavy bombers winged all the way to Gdynia, Poland, to drop their lethal cargoes, while fighters attacked a railroad and other targets in occupied France.

Hurricane bombers slashed at enemy shipping in the channel, setting afire two vessels.

Coastal Command Of RAF Helps Hunt Subs In Atlantic

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The coastal command of the RAF now is helping U. S. planes in the hunt for enemy submarines in the western Atlantic and already has been in contact with the enemy, it was revealed today.

But the whole story of the coastal command from early days of the war when it was known as the "baby" of the RAF, has been most remarkable. In those days it often resorted to the desperate bluff of sending up small training planes on operational flights off the English coast.

The pilots of these unarmed planes didn't even carry a revolver, but they scared the U-boats and countless tons of shipping were saved.

Today the coastal command is as strong as the entire RAF at the beginning of the war. It is a foul weather service, if ever there was one

Japan's Attempt To Retake Solomons Is Checked For Present

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—Naval analysts today interpreted withdrawal of Japan's battered invasion armada from the Tulagi area and cessation of the large scale sea battle of the Solomon Islands as additional important steps toward the ultimate defeat of Nippon.

The welcome news that American land, sea and air forces have checked—for the time being, at least—Japan's two-pronged drive to recapture the Solomon Islands they lost to the U. S. Marines, was contained in the navy's latest communiquet which read:

"Since the issuance of Navy Department Communique No. 112, there has been no further action in the sea battle of the Solomon Islands.

"Japanese surface forces appear to have withdrawn from the vicinity of our positions in the Tulagi area."

May Resume Assault

War experts warned that the Nipponese may regroup their forces and resume the counter-assault, but they asserted that the latest American victory cannot help but affect the enemy's future moves in the Southwest Pacific area and elsewhere.

Even the fresh Nipponese land-

Meatless Day Would Save Ships For Other Service

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—President Roosevelt declared today that a meatless day in the United States would save 30 to 40 ships for transport of other things such as ships, tanks and airplanes.

The president, at his press conference, added that his figures were still incomplete and he would not hazard a guess when a meatless day in this country might be ordered. But Mr. Roosevelt did say that it was a question of saving ships for more important purposes other than movement of meat.

Mr. Roosevelt explained that perhaps 200 or 300 ships are now being used to move meat from the Argentine, New Zealand and Australia. He said that we could take 30 or 40 ships out of the trade and divert them to movement of war munitions if a meatless day were ordered.

Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Turner and family moved Tuesday to Johnstown, where Rev. Turner has accepted the pastorate of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church. The Turners weer entertained at a farewell dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Kent.

U. S. Destroyer Listed As Lost After Collision

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The 1,630-ton Destroyer Ingraham, launched only 18 months ago, today was listed as lost, the result of a collision with another vessel in the Atlantic during a fog.

Announcement that the vessel had been sunk was made in the Navy's latest communique, giving a report on developments in the Solomon Islands battle.

The Ingraham had a normal complement of 175 officers and men. The navy said that the next of kin of the crew members who were lost have been notified, but the Department had no indication of the number lost.

The destroyer was launched at Charleston, S.C., in February, 1941 and was commissioned the following July.

Plans Being Drawn For Greatly Expanding U. S. Fighting Forces

By WILLIAM E. ZIMMERMAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The War Department, Selective Service System and Congreess today are working out plans for greatly enlarging America's fighting forces, including the drafting of 18 and 19-year-old youths.

Informed sources said that the War Department is preparing to ask Congress to permit lowering of the draft age, and it is believed that some action may be taken within the next three months, probably in November.

While Congress has consistently opposed dropping the draft bars to include the younger men, it now appears that sentiment is changing in favor of such a step.

Change Looming

Further disclosure that a change in the draft act is "in the mill", came from the war manpower commission's special committee on utilization of colleges and universities for the purposes of war. The committee warned prospective college students that the draft law may be amended to bring 18-year-olds into military service.

Rep. May (D) Ky., chairman of the House military affairs committee, said that he is ready to sponsor legislation to lower the draft age as soon as the War Department asks Congress to act.

"Originally I opposed the drafting of younger men," said May. "I felt that the fighting forces could be built up to a sufficient number without the youths of the nation.

"But the army has been giving the matter careful consideration for Another farewell sendoff was staged at the Pennsylvania station this morning, when the first contingent of men called up by County Board Two, which passed its final examination at Erie two weeks ago, left for duty in the United States army.

There was a large crowd present as the men departed, and the usual ceremonies were conducted, with James A. Bell, representing Neshannock Post No. 315, V. F. W., presiding. Capt. Carl Andreasen addressed the men briefly, and the band under Miss Christine Giancotti played prior to the departure.

The men were given the customary gift from the Lawrence County Service Men's Aid Association.

One of those who was to have left with this morning's group is confined to the Jameson Memorial hospital. He is Samuel Moskal of R. F. D. Another group from County Board Two will go tomorrow, completing the August call from the county

Allied Forces Taking Terrible Toll Of Jap Troops In New Guinea

By LEE VAN ATTA
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. DOUGLAS MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, In Australia, Aug. 28.—Fighting in dense jungles and waist-deep mud, Allied ground forces, aided by squadrons of fighters and bombing planes, were reported today taking a terrible toll of Japanese troops, planes and supplies in the battle of the Milne Bay section of eastern New Guinea.

Twelve and possibly seventeen enemy fighters and bombers were shot down in the past 24 hours in fierce combats over Milne Bay and at the Japanese base at nearby Buna, a communique from Gen Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced.

By all military standards the Allied forces are technically on the defensive in the Milne Bay battle but today's communique disputed this sharply.

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The WPB Foods Requirements committee today takes final action on immediate allocation and rationing measures to assure equitable distribution of war-short meat supplies.

Agriculture sources revealed that the committee, headed by Secretary Wickard, will have before it—as alternate solutions for the meat problem—meatless days, rationing to retailers, and allocation of meats to shortage areas.

These sources added that the solution arrived at may be a combination of any or all of the suggested programs.

Wickard's experts said that the distribution measures are being taken "to remedy a peculiar type of shortage—the result of a record year in meat production."

Auto And Coal Truck In Crash In Northumberland County Last Night

(International News Service)

TREVORTON, Pa., Aug. 28.—The bodies of five girls and one boy, aged 16 to 20, today bore mute testimony to the tragedy which struck two small Northumberland county communities in the wake of a head-on crash between an automobile and a coal truck shortly before midnight.

The six, along with another girl, now fighting for life in a Shamokin hospital, were residents of Fisher's Ferry and Trevorton, three of them members of one family. They were instantly killed as they returned home in their sedan from a roller-skating party at Hendon.

Accident Victims

The dead were:

The seventh occupant of the car, Peggy Alexander, 16, also of Trevorton, was in a critical condition with a fractured skull and other injuries. One of the girls was decapitated.

According to police the crash, which occurred on the Trevorton-Dornsife highway one mile west of Trevorton, resulted when Verdine Tharp, believed by police to have been the driver of the car, side-

Americas Seek To Help Spain

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—President Roosevelt today disclosed that the countries of the Americas were working on a program to help Spain rehabilitate itself from damage wrought by the civil war. The work, he said, is predicated on the assumption that Spain will remain neutral in World War II

He revealed that the program was calculated to help Spain restore not only its art objects and possibly help it reconstruct damaged buildings and even railroads.

He was asked whether or not this might be considered a move to force Spain to remain neutral. His reply was a flat no because he said that such an interpretation of the program would impune the decent motives which inspired it.

Solomons Not Major Battle Experts Warn

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—High military authorities expressed concern today over the reports that the public might be led to believe that the United States actions in the Solomon Islands represented a smashing victory.

One high spokesman said that he would not call the Solomon Islands action a major offensive. He cautioned newspaper against calling the actions in the Solomons a smashing victory so that the public might be misled. This authority pointed out that two things happened in the Solomons. After the U. S. seized two bases there, the Japs landed 700 troops at Guadalcanal, he explained. They were wiped out, he added.

During that time, according to this authority, there was also a series of small attacks by Japanese planes. He said that about 33 of

Need Many Women In Industry

Man-Power Is Great Problem

May Need 5,000,000 Women In Industry During Coming Year

WAR MAN-POWER LEADER SPEAKS

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. — Fowler Harper, deputy chairman of the war man-power commission, declared today that man-power shortages will make it necessary to bring an additional 5,000,000 women into industry during the next year.

Addressing the National Institute on Education and the War, meeting in Washington, Harper declared that there still are 3,000,000 persons unemployed in the United States, but that it will be impossible to utilize 2,000,000 of them in wartime American business and industry.

He declared that, contrary to general belief, "We don't have enough people."

In addition to large numbers of men to be drawn into the armed services, the nation must find at least 6,000,000 additional workers in war industries in order to meet production goals set out by President Roosevelt, Harper said.

"One of the great reserves in this country is women," Harper said. "And bringing women into war industries and the armed forces is one of the jobs of the war man-power commission."

Harper stated that every student in the United States must regard himself as "destined for service in the armed forces."

swiped the second of the three coal trucks passing in the opposite direction on a two-lane highway and then crashed head-on into the third.

Bruce Strohecker, 22 of Halifax, said by police to be the driver of the third truck, said he was unable to avoid the collision. When he saw the oncoming car, he told police, he said he "ducked and braced himself." He was only slightly injured and after treatment at a hospital was discharged.

Strohecker's truck careened down the highway and then upset, spilling tons of coal over the road.

Authorities held Strohecker and another of the truckers under $1,000 bond each pending furtner investigation.

ing on New Guinea, in the face of resistance by General Douglas MacArthur's forces, lost significance in the light of the smashing blows dealt the enemy in the Solomons.

It was pointed out that unless the Japanese could regain lost ground in the Solomons they would leave their invasion forces on New Guinea in a perilous position.

While the official score on the sea battle still was not disclosed by the navy, the fact that the huge enemy striking force apparently was fought to a standstill indicated U. S. sea and aerial forces continue to dominate the Solomon area.

Smash Enemy Thrusts

Most heartening was the disclosure that U. S. Marines on Guadalcanal Island in the Tulagi area have smashed several strong enemy thrusts by sea and air.

On Aug. 20, the Marine ground troops which seized the island wiped out all but 30 of an invasion force of 700. Subsequently, marine and naval aircraft, including land based pursuit planes and bombers, beat off several enemy air attacks and repelled a second and much stronger invasion force.

While the enemy toll is believed to be much higher, preliminary battle reports place Japanese losses at 13 to 15 warships and auxiliary vessels damaged in the first four days of the engagement. These included two aircraft carriers and one battleship damaged.

Nipponese propaganda broadcasts claimed that two American aircraft carriers and one battleship were damaged. The enemy admitted damage to only one carrier and loss of a destroyer. There was no confirmation of this from any other source.

Significantly, however, Tokyo broadcast no claim that the Mikado's forces had scored a smashing victory.

these planes were shot down, but added that all of these were minor operations.

The second phase of the battle developed when Japanese ships made what this military authority called a "reconnaissance in force". He said that the reconnaissance in force has been withdrawn. Some of the Japanese ships in this force were hit, and military authorities hope that some were sunk.

This spokesman declared that he did not think that the papers should give the idea that these actions represented a great major victory. He added that he would hate to have the people overestimate the effects of a minor victory.

Flew to His Death

Capt. Arthur LaRoe, U. S. Army Air Corps flight surgeon, was reported missing in a flight to a small Latin-American island with an army air crew. While he wrote reassuringly to his wife at Westfield, N. J., his letters to his sons, Tom, 19, and Bob, 17, carried the premonition that he might not return. He has been missing a month.

a long time and if they want Congress to take action now, I am ready."

To Push Measure

Rep. Sabath (D) Ill., chairman of the House rules committee, who predicted that Congress will be requested to act on the matter before January, said he is prepared to rush the measure through parliamentary routine for final action.

May indicated that the force of more than 4,000,000 men which President Roosevelt says is now under arms, will be augmented by a "considerable number of married men now in class 3-A.

"The allotment law for taking care of dependents will change the status of many men," he said, "and there is no doubt that the families of many of those who are now in 3-A will be able to take care of themselves without the income of the man of the family."

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, recently said that married men would be inducted "before Christmas." Selective service is also expected to support a draft of the younger men.

May said that if youths of 18 and 19 are inducted they should be given at least six months training "so that their brashness and the young bravery that will mean so much can be used to the best advantage."

Meanwhile, Secretary of War Stimson announced that the rapidly expanding army will now welcome enlistment of men from 45 to 50 years of age, and disclosed formation of two new army divisions.

Stimson said that enlistment of men up to 50 "indicates that we are trying to raise a big army." Heretofore enlistment age limits have been 18 to 45.

The two new infantry divisions, one to be composed of negro troops, will be organized during October.

W. P B. TO ACT ON MEAT SHORTAGE

top production, they explained, is due to the tremendous demands of the armed forces and lend-lease on the available supplies, combined with increased civilian consumption due to high war wages.

To prove their point they said that total U. S. meat production for the fiscal year 1942-43 will reach a record of 23,000,000,000 pounds.

This is almost 30 percent greater than the 18,000,000,000-pound average meat production for the last five years.

However, 25 percent of this—or 6,000,000,000 pounds of meat—will go to the armed forces and the lend-lease program during the year.

Of the 17,000,000,000 pounds of meat left to supply U. S. consumer demand, agriculture officials said, another 6,000,000,000 pounds will be sold locally by the livestock producer, and never hit the federally inspected markets.

Thus, they predicted the 1942-43 federally inspected meat crop at approximately 11,000,000,000 pounds which is almost the same as the average figure for the last 10 years.

ALLIED FORCES TAKING TERRIBLE TOLL OF JAP TROOPS

and bombers staged an offensive rampage, blasting enemy shore positions, landing barges, fuel dumps and troop concentrations.

An Allied spokesman at headquarters described the Allied air attack as "brilliant" and others in military quarters regard the aerial operations around Milne Bay as among the most successful of the war on the whole brood southwest Pacific front.

Since the Japanese invasion fleet first appeared off New Guinea Allied air forces have knocked down 45 enemy planes ofall types in the Milne Bay area and probably destroyed at least 25 others. The score of the bombers includes a transport and a gunboat sunk and a Japanese cruiser set afire and probably sunk.

Today's communique listed 12 enemy planes destroyed, 5 probably destroyed and 4 rammed in actions over Milne Bay and Buna.

Intercept Flights

An Allied medium bomber formation battled a flight of 10 to 13 enemy Zero fighters attempting an interception and destroyed 4 without losses of its own.

In a second engagement in the Milne Bay area an Allied fighter squadron intercepted a flight of 10 Zeros escorting 5 dive bombers and shot down two Zeros, two dive bombers and damaged a third dive bomber. One Allied fighter was lost.

Allied anti-aircraft fire destroyed or damaged three enemy planes.

Another Allied squadron of medium bombers attacked the Japanese airdrome at Buna, the nearby enemy base which can supply aerial support to its forces at Milne Bay. The heavily gunned American-made bombers shot down four enemy fighters, probably destroyed two more, and damaged three.

Then the Allied squadron carried out its attack, scoring hits on the runways and dispersal areas and returned to its bases without loss.

Ground Troops Battle

Allied ground troops have been in almost constant contact with the enemy since the Japanese landing force came ashore Tuesday night on the broad bay at New Guinea's eastern tip, 420 miles from the Australian mainland and only 225 miles from the vital Allied base at Port Moresby.

Flying Fortresses, medium bombers and Allied fighter squadrons have aided the enemy positions almost continuously, and have taken a toll, since the Japanese landing, of 47 planes destroyed and 25 others probably destroyed.

The enemy's stores, particularly gasoline, have been hit and set afire in the almost inceasing attacks, and the Japanese subterfuge of sinking gasoline drums in the sea offshore has not saved these precious stores.

In the bombing attacks on the Japanese invasion fleet before and during the landing operations Allied planes sank one transport, and a gunboat, and probably sank an enemy cruiser.

The Allied ground forces fought under greatest difficulties, as enemy dive bombers raked their positions steadily. The terrain in the Milne Bay area is a thick trackless jungle growth up to the seashore, and heavily rains have turned the land into a quagmire.

Heavy fighting was believed to be continuing. Today's communique said reports at dawn indicated the Allied ground forces were in contact with the enemy.

As the battle raged Australia remained tense. Not since the early hours of the battle of the Coral Sea has there been such a sense of tautness and apprehension.

Considerable doubt was expressed in some quarters that the Allied forces available to Gen. MacArthur were strong enough to cope with the seeming limitless forces of the enemy, but the heroic and brilliant performances of the Allied airmen, and the doggedness of the jungle-hardened ground troops of the New Guinea command have gone far to dissipate such doubts.

All reports served to strengthen the impression that the Japanese have paid a very heavy toll in the eastern New Guinea jungle and along the bomb-pocked shores of Milne Bay.

Do we expect the war to mark time during bad weather? We are training pilots only where the weather is ideal.

INVASION NERVES

IN threatening occupied Europe with still sterner administrative policies, Nazi officials disclose the tautness of their nerves in the face of preparations in England that have been stepped up greatly since the Allied raid on Dieppe.

The Nazis know that the largest American convoy of the war has arrived in England, each ship loaded to the rails with men and machinery of war; that Britian has probably several million effective combat troops at home, and that the Allies have air dominance over the Channel coast, northern Europe and Norway. It all sums up to the development of a campaign of invasion which the Nazis are fearful they will not be able to meet.

And it is encouraging news to all the Allied nations that America is finding ships to transport men, tanks, planes and guns in ever-increasing numbers and that the seaways have been made relatively safe for convoyed shipping. American camps in the British Isles are filling up.

Nazi concern over the reaction of the people of occupied nations to developments is justified. The "collaboration" of these people with the Reich is now marked by all manner of sly obstructions and delays. Workers from outside the Reich are reported to be less than half as efficient as an equal number of comparatively well-fed Germans. Resistance will be forthright and vigorous when these people know that powerful help is on the scene.

The Nazis are threatening Holland with starvation if the Allies invade. This is not impressive in view of what Dutchmen have been through to date. And they would be willing to endure a great deal more if they knew their liberation was imminent.

WRITING TO SOLDIERS

Lawrence county is proud of the many fighting men who have joined the armed forces. They are scattered to nearly every state and many are in foreign countries.

Members of their families on the home front, their friends and relatives should always remember how much these boys like to get letters from home.

It is essential to his morale that you write letters of a cheerful, helpful sort. And write often.

Make the boy in the service realize that his patriotism is not forgotten, and that he is often in your thoughts.

If those letters are dour, gloomy and pessimistic, their effect on the recipients is just the reverse of what it ought to be. We can all back up our soldiers, sailors and marines by mailing them letters that will boost their morale which makes for better soldiers. Write that letter today.

TRAVEL PRIORITY

At the airfield in New York City and in other airports throughout the country the Army Air Transport Command through a Regional Air Priority Control office now assigns seats on domestic airlines to qualified and military travelers.

This control office sees that every individual whose travel is urgent and essential to the war effort is granted priority to travel by air if this is faster than surface transport. Airlines which have turned over to the government more than half of their 350 transport planes and are still operating the remaining 165, are now relieved of passing on applications for priority at these airports. The Army control office does that for them. Classes enjoying priority in air travel are:

Personnel of the White House or others whose priorities are directed for accomplishment of a specific mission by the President, Secretary of War or Secretary of the Navy.

Ferry pilots.

Military personnel of the United States and Allies with orders directing air travel—also civilians whose travel is urgent in the war effort.

Certain cargo.

TIGHTENING UP OUR HOME DEFENSES

The conviction of the eight Nazi saboteurs by the special court in Washington recently and the execution of six of them met with the general approval of the American people who have no use for spies, traitors or sabcteurs. When an enemy is captured in battle, where he is fighting openly in uniform, willingly or unwillingly, he is placed in a prison camp until the war is over. But with men who steal into a country to do damage to its war institutions in any sneaky way possible, there can be no temporizing. Capital punishment is none too good for them.

We have entirely too many alien enemies within the gates and the FBI and other government agencies are doing the only sensible thing in keeping a line on them and rounding them up whenever they are found engaging in subversive activity. Perhaps our laxness in enforcing our immigration laws, and our complacency in permitting wide freedom of aliens without registration or finger-printing, in the days of peace, have aggravated the situation.

At any rate it is resassuring to note from Attorney General Biddle that he is preparing legislation, to be introduced into Congress, which will enable the government better to deal with enemy sympathizers in this country who aid saboteurs and subversivists while the latter are getting ready to carry out their nefarious designs. The legislation proposed will provide severe penalties not only for those who engage in sabotage but for those who assist or in any way encourge the saboteurs. The legislation, too, will provide means for speeding up the prosecution of those enemy-minded persons who are caught in the federal dragnet in the future. Under the present laws the trial of such conspirators against our peace and safety can only be held under general statutes enacted in days gone by when the present peril was hardly foreseen.

In the meantime indictments will be asked against twelve alleged miscreants who are charged with having in some way aided or abetted the saboteurs who have already been caught and convicted. If any of them can be indicted and convicted of treason they will face death.

Certainly at this time when the country's future welfare is at stake there can be no temporizing. Then in the future let us be more careful about whom we admit to the country and let us keep a closer check on them.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TOO MANY EXTRA BOOKS HARM CHILD

A good many school children, particularly in the junior and senior high schools, are loaded up too heavily with duties outside their studies during the school term. Right in the school many a child is engaged in far too many things. There are the student council, pupil-monitors and helpers who spend extra hours.

Here and there is a school principal who sees to it that no child is weighted down with numerous responsibilities and that no child is allowed to become identified with an unreasonable number of activities outside his regular school work. Nevertheless, relatively few principals and teachers have been so concerned about the health and general welfare of the bright, over-energetic pupil.

Extra Duties

Often, too, the student, barely able to get along with his school work, is burdened with extra duties. There are more tragedies than most of us have ever dreamed of growing out of foolish eagerness of parents who expect their children to do the impossible.

Occasionally children who measure up very well to responsibility are slow in the studies. Some of these students are always ready to engage in club activities and other things not immediately related to their school subjects. So also many a child is hindered by home duties and extra work like instrumental music, dancing lessons or elocution lessons.

Home Program

The pupil who freely takes on extra responsibilities at school may readily add them to his home program.

The first thing I want to know when a parent brings a child to me who is not keeping up in school is, "What does this child do besides his regular school studies?" How frequently such children have all sorts of extra work and supervised diversions!

When does the child play? When has he time to relax, to do as he pleases? It is cruel to the growing child to weigh him down with duties. It is absurd to make solemn old men and women out of youths who should be blithe and light of heart.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. My girl nine years old blinks her eyes and makes grimaces that look terrible. How can I make her stop?

A. You can't by commanding or scolding her. Say nothing about it to her. Have your doctor check her thoroughly. I believe she would get some help if you would follow the advice in my special bulletin on nervous habits, to be had by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope wiith a three-cent stamp on it.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

LONDON—Brig. Gen. G. H. Barnes of the U. S. Army Ordnance corps promises: "We have some real eye-openers. I cannot go into details but I can say that Britain and America have many surprises for the Germans."

WASHINGTON — Peter Fraser, prime minister of New Zealand, tells American parents who have sons in the southwest Pacific: "I can assure their mothers and fathers that they are well, have been well received, have made a fine impresson and that we have learned to love them very much."

NEW YORK—John B. Powell, editor of the "China Weekly Review," who lost 10 toes in a Japanese concentration camp: "The Japs hope we'll become tired of the war and become torn by domestic dissension, thus leaving them in control of the Orient, but I know their hopes will not be realized."

DETROIT—Stanley Reed, associate justice of the supreme court, asks a halt to criticism once a war policy is adopted: "I urge no placid acceptance of proposals . . . my point is that once freely decided, controversy over execution should cease."

One Man's Opinion

Anybody who can make sense out of these monopoly and price-fixing maneuvers is entitled to a degree in mixed thinking from Backward U.

We are breaking up radio chains as monopolies and urging telegraph companies to merge into a monopoly.

We are throwing suits at manufacturers for fixing prices and at retailers for cutting prices.

We have patent law to uphold patents and government counsel eager to tear them down.

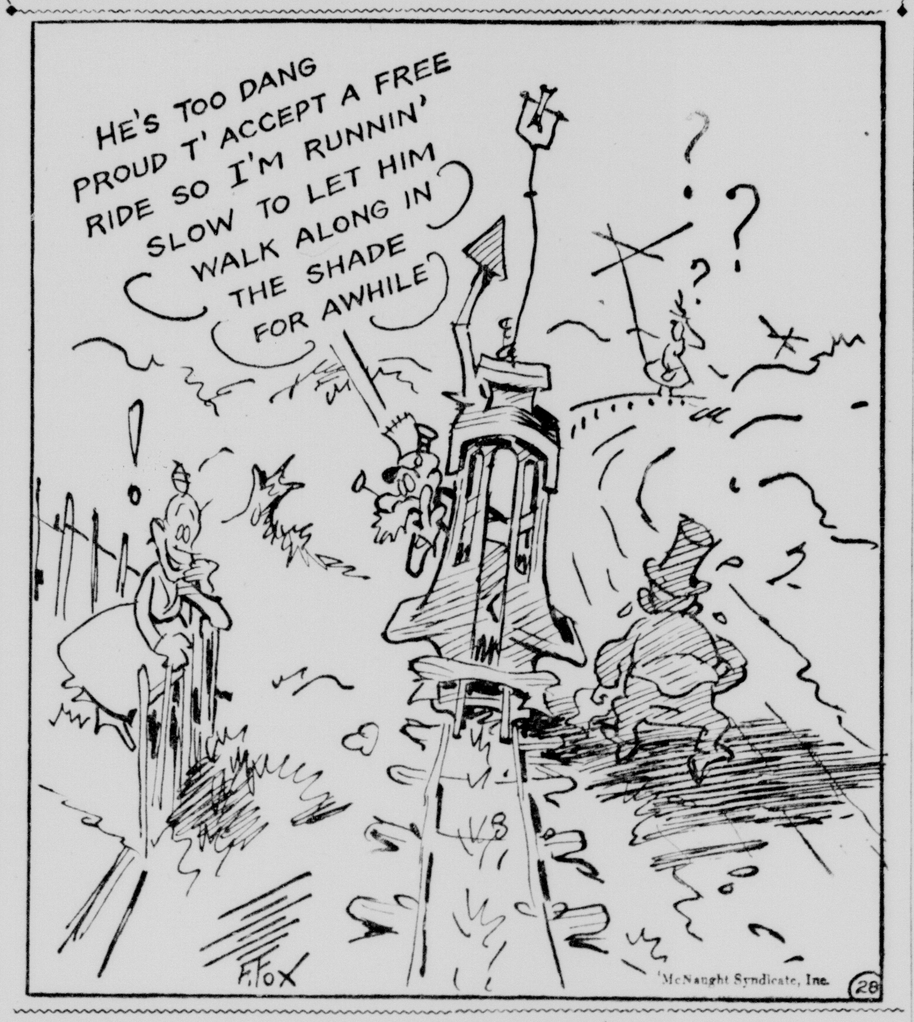

We alternate justice in the role of tweedle-dum and tweedle-dee. We have one code for Tuesdays and Thursdays and another for days when the barometer is dropping.

The law which used to have a fixed, inelastic quality is being bent around projections, hauled through tunnels and chopped fine to season the salad.

We kive curb service on consent decrees and put up stipulations to take out.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun set tonight 7:38. Sun rises tomorrow 6:24.

People cannot buy gasoline in Louisiana on Sunday. That's a real way to keep a lot of people off the roads.

One thing a person should keep under all circumstances is his word.

Maybe some time when people are invited out to dinner they will be asked to bring their own meat. Staying at home will also be a lot cheaper.

The most pleasant advice you can give to a lot of people is that which coincides with their own preconceived notions.

RIGHT!

A farmer was testing the intelligence of a new hand who was regarded by colleagues as a simpleton. "In yonder stable," exclaimed the farmer, "I keep a donkey. If I fill three buckets—one with milk, another with water, and a third with ale—which will Neddy drink?" The simpleton scratched his head. Then he replied: "He'll drink the water." "Quite right, my boy. And why is that?" "Because he's an ass," concluded the simpleton with a vacant smile.

It's a good thing to keep your eye on things during a blackout, night or day. Crooks are taking advantage of everything now.

When you let the other fellow do your thinking you mustn't grumble at the results.

It doesn't require a musical education to play dumb bell.

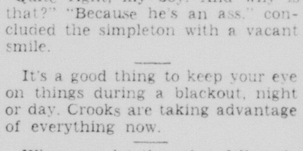

Oh, stop and let the train go by
It hardly takes a minute;
Your car then starts again intact,
And what is more, you're in it.

We expect sobriety in men, but we demand it from women.

We know a fellow whose wife is such a good cook that every time they go to a picnic the ants come home with them.

The stupid boy in school frequently is an awfully smart feller in life.

About the only reason we can think of——why the more than often unfair sex have not gone all out for the heathen customs—since they have adopted the tom-tom rhythm, red nail stain—and added the jungle nose ring to their costume is that the darn thing might interfere with their cigarette smoking!

If his wife corrects him constantly, she knows more than he does or she knows less about manners.

Old rotten trees should not be left standing anywhere, especially where they will fall on people who do not belong to your own family.

Curbstone opinions frequently land you in the gutter.

An Ohio man joined the army the day after he secured a divorce. Into another fight right away.

"I like that young fellow you were with the other night, so I asked him to dinner this evening. I told him to drop around in his business clothes."

"Oh, father! He's a swimming instructor at a nudists' camp!"

The Lord so arranged things that minding your own business takes up most of your waking hours.

"Advertising is something like an egg. What you get out of the thing depends upon what you put into it. Ma's got a fool hen that's been setting on a brace of china eggs for three weeks and fretting because nothing happens. Won't be long now until she'll tell the world there's nothing to this egg-hatching business."

We will not try raising tomatoes on potato plants until we learn how to raise them right on tomato plants.

And now the Rationing Board is threatening to ration anchovies, pickled eels, avocado pears, caviar and sandwich spreads . . . Well, our conscience is clear and none of these afore-mentioned delicacies will serve to curtail our personal diet.

It is enough to make any decent person feel old-fashioned to be told that everybody is doing the things they ought not to do.

Floods have done millions of dollars worth of damage in Pennsylvania this summer. New Castle has had none and we are lucky.

LOOSE TALK COSTS LIVES

Had I been an axis spy, I should have learned much today to report to gestapo headquarters.

During lunch, a girl engaged in war work proudly proclaimed her duties to another girl and even described the entire layout of the plant in which she was working, what and how many war weapons it is turning out. She mentioned the names of the officers in charge and even mentioned the home address of the commandant. Not only I, at the next table, but the waiter who hovered nearby, could hear the entire conversation. And waiters in particular are bribed to become spies because they have the unusual opportunities to overhear such conversation.

Men have for generations twitted us about our alleged inability to keep any secret except that of our ages. For our country's sake, let us keep the secrets of our national defense even more sacred than we do our honor.

Our sex is now on trial as it has never been before and all garrulous sisters engaged in confidential government work should be recognized as more dangerous even than time bombs.

Question: At what time during a meal and how should the table be crumbled? What dishes should be removed at that time?—H. K.

Answer: After the salad course has been eaten and the salad plates, salt and pepper shakers and all flat silver have been removed—leaving nothing on the table but the glasses and the centerpiece—crumbs should be brushed with a folded napkin into a plate held in the waitress' left hand.

The dessert plates with the proper silver should then be brought in and placed in front of each person.

TEACHER'S INFLUENCE

It was a good many years ago when a teacher came to a village school in the state of Indiana. That school was quite run-down. It had a reputation of getting rid of teachers. The school was gang-ridden by a dozen or more rough boys. So, when this new teacher came, the boys were sure they would have a picnic. The first day, the teacher discovered the leader of the gang drawing rude pictures on a slate.

The teacher himself, rather angular and tall, anything but handsome, and quite awkward, realized the crude caricature was of himself. The boy, bent over his slate, drawing between spasms of laughter, looking up at the teacher, then around the room, and back at the slate, was attracting the attention of the whole school.

When school was out for the day, this boy was requested to stay. He was the gang leader, and his partners in mischief gathered around the building, waiting to see what would happen between him and the new teacher. He had insulted the teacher the first day and surely something drastic would be done. They were disappointed when, after a few minutes, he emerged from the building, smiling, and with a new book in his hand, made straight for home. This boy had never thought enough about books to carry one home. But something had really happened to that boy, he had met a truly great teacher.

The teacher had said to him: "James, I see you have in you the making of a great artist or painter, maybe a poet. You have something every boy doesn't have. You can achieve great things. Here's a book. Take it home, read it, then draw for me the characters in the book as you see them."

That was all. The boy was waiting for the teacher the next morning, book in hand, drawings ready. "Did you read any of the book?" asked the teacher.

"Any if it? I read all of it. Here are your drawings, too."

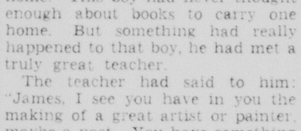

That teacher had done something for that boy. This experience was the turning point in his life. It was the influence of this one teacher that saved that Indiana genius who, all the neighbors said, "would come to some bad end."

You know him as James Whitcomb Riley.

Of course some cars are getting so rickety they will not run fast no matter how much gas is choked into them.

The reason why Dan Cupid makes so many bad shots is because he aims at the heart while looking at the hosiery.

The rain falls on the just man. But it also helps the flowers grow in the unjust man's garden.

Proof of love's power is the fact that ladies still are adored in spite of what they do to make themselves attractive.

Being poor isn't the worst thing that can happen to people these days.

When two married people appear to be getting along happily together, the gossips have no reason to assume they are holding something back.

"Yes, there's a chance of putting you in the show, but it is only a bare chance." "Oh, no, thank you!"

The delay in punishing those saboteurs showed what ails us. We are still soft enough to dread making decisions.

What good sports we are! We teach soldiers "dirty fighting," but print pictures of it so the enemy will be on his guard.

"The people should wake up; they don't realize how serious this fire is," growled Nero, as he continued to fiddle.

Davis Views Job As In Interpreter
Too Much Talking In Other Bureaus
Objects To Misinformation Put Out

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—So it was War Information Chief Officer Elmer Davis who inspired President Roosevelt's order to all his subordinates, from cabinet members on down, not to talk too much, with the strong intimation that the talking they HAVE been doing was too much and then some.

Analysis reveals, however, that it was the character rather than the quantity of the governmental functionaries' conversation that Elmer was critical of.

In short, as director of War Information, INFORMATION is what he wants to have handed out—not MIS-information. And what he particularly objects to is misinformation of an undesirable nature.

Elmer wasn't required to disclose the fact, but perhaps he was needed to call attention to it, that departmental bureaucratic and agency heads' utterances have conflicted among themselves not only puzzlingly, but maybe damagingly. They've given the impression that all is confusion in Washington. Confidentially, it isn't altogether a mistakeen impression, either, but, even so, it isn't the kind of information that Elmer Davis believes in having broadcast. As he says, it's just the sort of propaganda that enemy agents are desperately anxious to disseminate in our midst and he isn't in favor of permitting our own folk to help 'em at it.

Enemies Are Alert

Of course, even under peace conditionss, differences of opinion occasionally develop between various federal subdivisions, but in normal times they're adjusted with no very serious friction, and there are no watchful propagandists alert to make the most of 'em, anyway.

Now, though, offices and administrations have multiplied so rapidly and numerously and such an assortment of conflicting types of individuals have been pitchforked into posts of authority in charge that they're a perfect hodgepodge of disagreement and overlappings, to an extent that makes it impossible for them to tell themselves apart along a lot of their respective forderlines. Furthermore their rival managements consist largely of automatic guys, conscripted from private business and entirely undisposed to make the smallest allowances for others' ideas that clash with their own in the slightest.

When one of these boys has a press conference he's far less likely to hand out a consructive interview relative to his especial group's requirements than to pan the head of some other group, accused of interfering with him.

The necessity for straightening out these complications hasn't been overlooked by the White House.

Judge Samuel Rosenman was named to hit on a compromise between Price Administrator Leon Henderson and the War Labor Board concerning anti-inflation policies. Bernard Baruch and an investigating committee had to be drafted to answer the seemingly rather simple question: "Is there a rubber shortage?"

Such quizzers are trying to solve the muddle, but, in the meantime, the disputing bureaucrats have gone on quarreling, extremely vocally.

Elmer Davis' proposition is that news of it isn't "information".

Personally I don't see why not. If all these outfits are pulling hair between themselves, I'd think it

MUSSOLINI'S BLUNDER

He counted up the cannon and the ships and tanks and planes
And decided: hence for freedom not a chance on earth remains.
So Benito Mussolini threw his best friends overboard
And accepted Adolph Hitler and his promise of reward.

He heard the cannon thunder and he saw the planes in flight
And was certain human beings from such power must run in fright.
"Twill be ended by September!" he marked three years ago.
"For no democratic nation can survive a Hitler blow!"

Tons of bombs were rained on London and the ports along the sea.
'Twas a holocaust at Dunkirk. France gave up, enslaved to be.
But the British kept on fighting and the good old U. S. A.
Joined the cause of truth and freedom and is at the front today.

Poor Benito Mussolini sits disconsolate and sad.
Shorn of every trace and vestige of respect which he once had.
He has learned that tanks and cannon and the tools of greed and might Howsoever they are managed cannot make an evil right.

Words Of Wisdom

LOOKING AT LIFE

—By Erich Brandeis

Speaking in the name of the Italian government, Mario Appelius, official Rome announcer, proclaimed in a review of the war:

"We are satisfied. We are very satisfied. We are very pleased with ourselves. We have overcome enormous difficulties. We are intelligent. We are capable. We are full of great virtues.

Which reminds us of that fable by Aesop, called, "The Lion's Share."

The lion went once a-hunting along with the fox, the jackal and the wolf.

They came upon a stag and took his life.

Then came the question how the spoil should be divided.

"Quarter me this stag," roared the lion; so the other animals skinned it and cut it in four parts.

Then the lion pronounced the judgment:

"The first quarter is for me in my capacity as King of the Beasts; the second is mine as arbiter; the third comes to me for my part in the chase, and as for the fourth quarter, well, I should like to see which of you will dare to lay a paw upon it."

Wherupon the fox, as he walked away with his tail between his legs, was heard to speak in a low growl: "You may share the labours of the great, but you will not share the spoil."

"We are very pleased with ourselves," shouts the Rome broadcaster.

Why? Because you waited until what you thought was the last minute, greedy to get in on the kill?

The more you boast, the more ridiculous you are.

The more you want to appear as the lion in the fable, the more you expoee yourself as the jackal.

Haven't you any mirror, Signor Mussolini?

Can't you see yourself as you are? The bald-headed, pot-bellied strutter; the vain poser whom a hero's uniform fits about as well as it does the organ-grinder's monkey; the coward, the opportunist, the sneak, the cheat.

Hitler will go down into history as the most brutal murderer who ever lived. Hirohito will be recorded as an example of treachery and deceit.

But you, Signor and your stooges, will be the symbol of cowardice.

To quote Shakespeare:

"You are the hare of whom the proverb goes,
Whose valor plucks dead lions by the beard."

The World and the Mud Puddles

A NATION OF EUROPEANS

A Harvard scientist and a refugee chemist from Germany have collobrated in compounding a fluid spray for wooden surfaces which makes them almost as fire-resistent as hardened steel. Dr. Walter Juda, who quit the Reich when the anti-Semitic Nazis rose to power, and Dr. Grinnell Jones of the Chemistry Department of Harvard are modest in their claims for this remarkable process, but it should be of great value for war uses and for the protection of ordinary buildings against bombs.

Many such new Americans, Catholics, Protestants and Jews, from Germany and the occupied lands of Europe are devoting themselves to science and invention under the protection of our flag. Their names will be enrolled in time on the roster of famous inventors who have well served their adopted country and receive their due reward. Alexander Graham Bell, of telephone fame, who came here from Edinburgh in 1870, is in the list, as is Emile Berliner, who migrated from Germany at the age of twenty-three and promoted the science of telephony by the invention of the induction coil.

Only a generation ago, Nikola Tesla was a magic name. This master electrician was born in Serbia, now Yugoslavia. No such career was more remarkable than that of Michael Pupin, a Hungarian peasant's son, who landed in the new world with five cents and a heart full of hope, and reaped honors as a great scientist. It was his work that provided the method for putting the telephone and telegraph wires underground without loss of electric power.

Many men of curious names belong in the roll. There was Edmund L. G. Zalinski, of Poland, who devised the dynamite gun, and V. K. Zworykin, of Russia, who is helping to solve the problems of television. The case of the Swede, John Ericsson, who came to the United States at the age of thirty-six and revolutionized the world's navies, is outstanding.

About Five Per Cent Of State Recruits In Lowest Educational Brackets

(International News Service)

NEW CUMBERLAND, Pa., Aug. 28.—Men whose illiteracy formerly barred them from army service now are being educated in special training schools, Major William A. Fulmer, post commander of the army reception center, disclosed today.

The new program is designed to make more men available for Uncle Sam's growing army. Men with insufficient educational background are sent to special training units in replacement training centers where the army undertakes to give them a primary education. They are taught to read and write, to do simple arithmetic, to drill, and many are taught special trades or skills.

Capt. W. W. Weidner of Catawissa, who is in charge of the general classification work, said many of these men frequently make excellent soldiers.

Major Fulmer said draft boards are now permitted to fill up as much as 10 per cent of their quotas with men who have had little formal education.

Records at the New Cumberland reception center show that during the last year less than 5 per cent of the recruits from Pennsylvania have dropped into the lowest grade on the army's general classification test, compared to nationwide average of approximately 7 per cent.

College Students Destined For Army

Educators Are In Washington To Hear Program For Colleges In War-Time

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—American educators assembled in the nation's capital today to receive their "marching orders" on the heels of a warning that all able-bodied male college students are "destined for the armed forces."

The warning came from War Manpower Commission Chairman Paul V. McNutt, who will address leading educators from the 48 states at the opening session of the four-day national institute on education and the war at the American university.

"All others must prepare themselves, physically and vocationally, for appropriate war service," McNutt said.

A battery of high government officials was scheduled to drive home to the school men in the course of the conference that "business as usual" is over, and that colleges and universities must marshal their facilities for war purposes.

The educators will be told how to train needed manpower; assist the army and navy in their specialist programs; adapt curriculum to meet war and post-war needs; organize state and local school systems for volunteer wartime services, and how education will be financed during the war.

Speakers were to include Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national draft director; Lieut. Gen. Brehon Somervell, chief of the army services of supply; John W. Studebaker, U. S. commissioner of education; OCD Director James M. Landis; OPA Administrator Leon Henderson; Secretary of Agriculture Wickard; WPB Vice Chairman William L. Batt, and Wayne Coy, assistant director of the budget.

would be highly informative to the public to hear about it.

Still, I suppose it is Elmer's mission to give it a certain amount of coherency.

An Interpreter

Elmer's theory evidently is that his job's to be, not so much an informer, as an interpreter. His game is to get the information "as it is", and give it out for what it MEANS.

That's a legitimate function.

It isn't a reporter's function, though; it's an editor's.

A reporter's business is to say, "So-and-so has happened." An editor's business is to say, "So-and-so is what follows—"

Elmer has been a radio news commentator. That's an editorial stunt. It's based on information, but it's information that previously has been filtered.

Far be is from me to say that Elmer Davis isn't good at it. "I knew him when." Nevertheless, he isn't a direct source of information. HE aims to be fully informed and then to give his information out as HE sees it. I don't dispute his conclusions' approximate accuracy.

Approximate? He's human.

CARRY WOUNDED RAIDER ASHORE

One of the Commandos wounded during the daring assault on Dieppe in Occupied France is carried from an invasion barge at a British channel base. It was reported that British casualties during this raid ran high because the Germans had somehow been tipped off and were awaiting the attack.

Women On The Home Line Of Defense

(Contributed)

This should have a special significance to all women.

To be of service to our country we do not necessarily need to serve on the front lines.

In this war-time program there is a duty for every woman as well as our men, in our home defense program, as set up by our local community.

No one individual organization or person has a greater right of service over another.

Each should function side by side in their various activities of service just as our men are serving in the front lines of combative service.

Today as never before we should be of one thought, that of combined service one with another, and with a unity of purpose and thoughts for freedom for our democracy. Regardless of race, creed or color, we must be united ready to answer any call with the same goal in mind—that is—to be prepared to meet any catastophre or emergency with our combined forces—whether it be as a member of Red Cross, Salvation Army, Community Chest, Greater New Castle Association, Bundles for Britain, or Bundles for America.

Today is a day for courage and resourcefulness. Petty jealousies and controversies must be forgotten in these days of strain and strife.

We must all come closer to God in prayer for the safety of our men now already in service, who are giving their all for the safety of our nation and for the ultimate victory that must come in order that we may enjoy the freedom that we have always so richly enjoyed.

We must remember Pearl Harbor. Daily our loved ones are leaving our community.

With these two thoughts forever in our hearts and minds, we should be so enthused and imbued with the desire of service and our duty to our men in service that no matter what various other activities we have, we will combine forces and find time to unite as a group of women working for the same cause and purpose.

Won't you pay special attention to any worth while program presented to you as a community need?

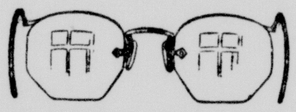

Today we are facing truths and facts as did the women of pioneer days.

We must practice their resourcefulness and spirit of independence and push forward and grasp the opportunity of service to our community.

Let's keep faith with them who are now in service and feel that this is a time and opportunity for service to your community and to the men who are serving our country.

BOONEVILLE, Ind.—A human bundle burial, discovered at Angel Mounds, early Indian village near here, has led explorers to conclude that inhabitants of the prehistoric hamlet originated in the southeast. OPEN SCHOOL TO COEDS

(International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—The urgent necessity of women in war industry and defense opened the doors of the California Institute of Technology to "co-eds" for the first time in the school's history.

The Revolution started this way, too. In the first year, the Colonials were too soft to do more than jail a traitor.

CHIP OFF THE OLD BLOCK

(International News Service)

GREAT LAKES, Ill.—When Dale Youngman, a direct descendant of Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry, arrived at this naval training station he lived up to the precedent set by his illustrious ancestor.

Perry, an American naval commander in the War of 1812, is credited with sending the following famous message after the Battle of Lake Erie: "We met the enemy and they are ours: two ships, two brigs, one schooner and one sloop."

Youngman sent the following message home his first day in camp: "I have arrived at the station and it is mine: two uniforms, two pairs of shoes, one hammock and one ditty bag."

TRAINING AS FIREMEN

There are probably one hundred persons training as auxiliary firemen. It is likely some already have completed their training but as yet have not been certified. If not, they should immediately be sworn in. Names of no person who has not qualified will be published unless announced by the OCD.

VERY GOOD PRACTICE

City OCD attaches are proud of the maner in which the townsfolk accepted the air raid drill Wednesday. Outlying sections were patrolled. The air raid wardens, in some cases women, reported their neighboring women had their children off the streets, inside the homes, and distant from windows.

CAN HELP STOP RUMORS

Members of the OCD, city and county, can deliver a blow against the Axis by helping to stamp out rumors. The agents of the Axis always are willing to scatter propaganda which affects the morale of persons with sons and daughters in the service. Always demand proof, or say plainly, "I don't believe it."

WHERE TO GO TONIGHT

Third precinct of the Eighth ward, Polish Falcons hall, Miller avenue, eight p. m.

Tenth precinct of the Second ward, at First U. P. church, at eight p. m.

There will be no air raid warden meetings Saturday night. However, Sunday night at seven o'clock there will be a meeting of the first precinct of the sixth ward at the Smithfield street fire house.

HOW ABOUT IT?

Should OCD attaches have any interesting features concerning the individual precincts and such items can be "boiled down" to a few paragraphs, send them in to the OCD column. Tell what is occurring in your precinct. The "tips" will be published as often as space permits.

All auxiliary policemen of the Second ward have been requested to meet in city hall, third floor, at 8 o'clock tonight.

DECOY PLANES LOOK REAL

JEFFERSON BARRACKS, Mo.—An experimental decoy plane, designed by the Post Camouflage Unit of this AAF Technical Training Command station and assembled near a mid-western flying field, looks so much like the real thing that when Colonel Roscoe Turner spied it on a recent air tour he dipped twice in salute and hurried in to report the "distressed ship." Decoy planes are used on fighting fronts to deceive the enemy and lead him into a trap.

U S. Pilots Bring Down At Least 19 Enemy Planes At Buna

By PAT ROBINSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Aug. 28.—A small group of average A American boys destroyed at least 19 Japanese Zero fighter planes in attacks on the enemy base at Buna, New Guinea, in the past 48 hours and at the same time struck shattering blows at claims of invincibility of the Japanese fighter craft.

The American successes came at a critical time for the Japanese pursuit ships are a vital need in the Japanese plan of attack. Their bombers never venture forth without fighter protection, and a shortage of planes will hamper the enemy fleet movements in this area where landing operations have been in progress.

The latest attack on Buna took place during a blinding tropical rain storm but apparently it did not hamper the accuracy of the American fighter pilots.

Hammer Enemy

In the formation that strafed the enemy base where Lieut. Bill Brown of Mancelona, Mich., Lieut. Dan Roberts of Springer, N. M., Lieut. George Helveston of Tatum, Tex., Lieut. Gerald Rogers of New York, Lieut. Noel Lundy of Nebraska, Lieut. Charles Abel of Denver, Lieut. Leon Mathers of Mathersville, Miss., and Lieut. Jim Griffin of Los Angeles.

They dove onto the field and caught the Japanese with short warning some were still running to their planes as the Americans swept over the airdrome at 50 feet and blasted the enemy ships.

One was sent crashing in flames before it had cleared the treetops, and Brown caught one with a broadside as it came out of a barrel roll.

Roberts chased a Jap to sea and shot it down in flames. Then Roberts teamed up with Helveston and they got another between them. Helveston went up under a Zero that was climbing and poured a blast into its belly and it went down in a trail of smoke.

Roberts set a large fuel dump afire and Abel thinks he damaged at least one Zero during a swirling dogfight.

The certain score was: Brown 2; Roberts 2; Rogers ½; Helveston 1½. This was considered a notable record for its was the first time Brown and Helveston have been in combat.

I saw all of these boys as they stepped from their planes after the battle. All of them would like more letters from home.

What's the Answer?

When was coal first mentioned?

ANSWER: As early as 371 B. C., Theophrastus, pupil of Aristotle, spoke of coal in his treatise "On Stones", mentioning fossil substances "that are called coals, which kindle and burn like wood-coals".

Where can you find a handy list of the coal dealers in your vicinity?

ANSWER: You'll find the COAL DEALERS in your vicinity—as well as the MOVERS, RESTAURANTS, BEAUTY SHOPS, RADIO REPAIRERS and many other services—conveniently listed in the Yellow Pages of your telephone directory.

You'll save time these busy days if you look in the Yellow Pages when you want to know "where to buy it" or who will do the job.

ABOARD A U. S. COAST GUARD CUTTER In the North Atlantic—(delayed)—Escorted exclusively by U. S. Coast Guard ships, an American convoy safely reached its destination.

Approval of this dispatch by naval censors marks the first disclosure that Coast Guard units now are employed far from home shores to protect oceanic shipping routes in the crucial battle of the Atlantic.

Guarding both transport and cargo vessels, the sturdy little Coast Guard task force daringly moved through the danger zones. The ships criss-crossed trails of enemy submarines and dropped drums of dynamite wherever the foe was believed to be.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 28. — The state election bureau expects that at least two and possibly three third parties will appear on the election ballot in November . . . They are the Socialist-Labor party, with Joseph Pirincin of Pittsburgh as its candidate for governor; the Prohibition party, headed by Dale H. Learn of East Stroudsburg, and the United Pension party, with state Senator John J. Haluska, Democrat, of Patton as its gubernatorial candidate . . . The last day for independent parties to withdraw is August 29 . . . The Socialist-Labor group and the Prohibition party are expected to stay on the ballot but it is not known definitely whether Haluska will drop out of the race as Democratic State Chairman David L. Lawrence and other party leaders wish.

Independent parties seeking control of the state government first appeared 13 years ago when Thomas McKean, an independent Democrat, defeated the regular Democratic party and write-in candidates to win the governor's chair . . . Third parties, variously named Abolitionists, Native American, and Free Soilers, appeared occasionally on the ballot until 1872 when independent groups became a regular part of the state's election picture . . . In 18 gubernatorial elections since then, independent groups have sought to overthrow the party in power . . . The Prohibition party placed its first gubernatorial candidate, S. B. Chase, on the ballot in 1872 while labor's first candidate was Thomas A. Armstrong, 10 years later.

Pennsylvania's air raid precaution control center, joining every county control center with Harrisburg, will be completed soon and ready to operate 24 hours a day in case of emergencies . . . The center, authorized by the state defense council, is being established under the direction of Col. Ralph Mitchell of Harrisburg . . . When completed, Dr. A. C. Marts, executive director of the council, will name a commander and various subordinates to man the center and coordinate the work of various citizens' group . . . A net work of communication lines has been mapped out and state council officials said necessary equipment will be installed soon.

The state department of internal affairs has accelerated its campaign against snortweight packages . . . Joseph P. Blickley, director of the bureau of standard weights and measures, said that with the increased number of packaged goods coming into Pennsylvania from out-of-state firms, inspectors have been spurred to make more sample checks of the goods . . . Last year, inspectors examined 1,997,386 packages and condemned 40,469 . . . Blickley said the packages contained mostly foods or products that lost weight when they dried, such as beans, corn and cereals . . . The department revealed that inspectors from the bureau made 4,450,334 individual inspections during 1941 and condemned 9,308 sets of scales and 76,881 other pumps, measures and containers . . . Inspectors examine all scales, from the huge heavy duty scales to the tiny scales used by druggists and jewelers.

Slayer Gives Up To Police After 14-Year Hunt

(International News Service)

NORWALK, O.—Charles Mitchell, 55, who lived under the name Colergo Micciuli for 14 years while evading police on a first-degree murder charge, surrendered voluntarily to Norwalk officials recently with firm conviction that a man cannot live peacefully with a troubled conscience.

The case, when brought to public attention once more, revealed that Mitchell was accused of homicide in the shooting of Mrs. John Rupino at near-by Bellevue on Christmas Day, 1926.

According to records, Mrs. Rupino's death followed a series of quarrels with Mitchell. On Christmas Eve, witnesses heard bitter words pass between them. The following day Mitchell went to the woman's house to apologize, but instead another quarrel ensued and Mrs. Rupino was struck by three bullets, allegedly fired by Mitchell.

Mitchell's version of the shooting was that a struggle took place after Mrs. Rupino threatened him with a gun, and during the struggle she was accidentally shot.

Mitchell fled after the shooting and for 14 years roamed Ohio doing odd jobs. Tortured by conscience, the 55-year-old former railway section worker, decided to give himself up.

GOLD IN THE YUKON

(International News Service)

DAWSON CITY, Yukon.—All the gold wasn't taken out of the Yukon in the rush of '98, it was proved recently when veteran prospector Louis Nadeau brought in a seven-pound gold nugget, one of the largest ever seen in Alaska.

Divorces Jessel

Lois Andrews, above, who married Comedian George Jessel when she was 16, today is a free woman, having won a 15-minute divorce in Hollywood. Lois, who became a mother last year, testified that the 44-year-old comedian was extremely jealous, smashed too many mirrors, didn't believe in Santa Claus, and, besides, he was too old for her.

Bomber Reaches Base With Wing Section Broken

(International News Service)

LONDON—The captain of a Wellington bomber which recently attacked a target in Western Germany saved his aircraft and crew by splendid airmanship and presence of mind.

He had just made his bombing run when searchlights caught and held the bomber. It was hit by heavy flak, and a five-foot section was broken off one of the wings.

The bomber staggered and nearly turned upside down, but the pilot used all his strength and got it on an even keel. With the help of his second pilot he lashed the stick to a strut with a rope from the astro-hatch. This helped him to keep the aircraft trim; but even so flying was very arduous work. As a precaution, the captain thought it best to warn the crew to be prepared to bale out.

"I'm not going to be a prisoner in Germany," the co-pilot said, and gave all the help that he could as the bomber forged homeward for England.

As a result of the first and second pilot's skill and coolness, the aircraft was safely brought back and touched down to its base. Everyone who saw it was amazed that it could have been brought home in such a state.

CHINESE FARMERS BAN JAPS

(International News Service)

KAMLOOPS, B. C. — Chinese farmers desperately need labor aid this summer, but the shortage isn't so bad that they will work with Japanese.

In response to an offer of the interior marketing board to supply Japanese labor, Chinese farmers unanimously declared they would rather lose their farms than work with Japs.

The weak spot in every nation's war plans is the human mind. Nobody knows when it will get new ideas.

Volunteer Candidates For Officers' Training Examined At Carlisle

By WILLIAM BROCKMAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

CARLISLE, Pa., Aug. 28.—A large percentage of Pennsylvania's volunteer candidates for officers' training schools pass before the examining board at the Carlisle barracks, army post officials revealed in announcing the procedure which must be followed by the prospective officers.

Carlisle barracks claims the distinction of being the only army camp in the Keystone state where volunteer candidates can take all preliminary examinations and be interviewed. Other stations, it was pointed out, are prepared to give part of the service, but since the Carlisle post is equipped for the entire procedure, many applicants prefer to appear before the board there.

The volunteers must be class 3-A registrants between the ages of 18 and 45 who have been deferred from active duty because of dependencies. After applying to his selective service board, which will provide all necessary papers, a volunteer must report to an army post or camp for physical and mental tests. An examining board will also determine whether he meets character, age and citizenship requirements and possesses the necessary qualities of leadership.

If all the requirements are met, the volunteer will be accepted for induction into the U. S. army.

From that time forward, he will receive no special consideration but will compete for admission to officer candidate schools with all other eligible members of the army. Unlike other inductees, however, he will be permitted to choose the branch of service in which he wishes to participate.

An imposing list which includes the infantry, the quartermaster corps, the air forces administrative service, the armored force, the engineers corps, the signal corps, anti-aircraft artillery and ordnance department is open to the volunteer.

If he has no special qualifications, the volunteer must serve at least three months in an enlisted status after his induction. If, however, he is not called upon to attend a candidate school within four months after induction, he may, upon request, be relieved from duty and return to a civilian status.

The volunteer officer candidate program was initially set up in March. Quotas were assigned to each of the nine service commands with an over-all quota of 1500 per month. In May this quota was doubled, raising the monthly Pennsylvania quota from 175 to 350.

Candidates who fail to make the grade at officers' training school may ask for an honorable discharge from the army, subject later, however, to call from their draft board for regular induction. Successful candidates are commissioned as second lieutenants.

The third molar, or wisdom tooth, is the most variable tooth as to the time of its appearance. It may be cut almost as soon as the other molars, or many years later, or not at all.

Gypsy Rose Lee To Marry Again

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Gypsy Rose Lee, who raised the art of "strip-tease" from the burlesque to a top box office attraction, is about to enter her second marriage adventure.

The groom will be Alexander Kirkland, actor, who is currently starring in "Junior Miss." The wedding is scheduled "at the stroke of midnight," Sunday in Miss Lee's home at Highland Mills, N. Y.

Because Kirkland and Miss Lee, who is appearing in a feature role of "Star and Garter," must be in New York for Monday night performances, their honeymoon trip will be of short duration.

Miss Lee's first marriage was dissolved a year ago when she was divorced from Robert Mizzey, New York dental equipment manufacturer.

SOME LAUNDRIES ATTEMPT TO BEAT CEILING PRICES

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28—A quiet investigation, launched by the state OPA office, has disclosed that some laundries here have taken steps to "beat" ceiling prices by eliminating lower priced services which were in effect in March.

The 12-pieces-for-60-cents and 15-for-75 cents bundles were eliminated by some for a flat charge of $1.25 for 25 pieces. Others have reduced the weight in 60-cent-bags from eleven to 8 pounds. In addition, they have increased the charge for shirts from seven to ten cents more each.

"Laundries must continue to offer the same low-priced services they offered in March," an OPA official warned. "All convicted violators will face a $5,000 fine, a year in jail, or both."

Fatally Burned In Auto Accident On State Turnpike

BEDFORD, Pa., Aug. 28.—George Schwartz, 28, of Pittsburgh, was burned to death Thursday and his helper, Thomas Sasker, also of Pittsburgh, was injured seriously when their loaded truck-tractor and semi-trailer hit a bridge abutment and caught fire on the Pennsylvania turnpike about 10 miles west of Bedford.

Sasker, despite his injuries, managed to crawl to safety before the fire swept the truck. The cargo of butter was destroyed. Schwartz was listed as owner of the vehicle.

Unique Method For Saving Paper

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—The Philadelphia College of Osteopathy and Hospital has devised a means of saving both paper and steel by the simple expedient of using the backs of incoming letters for carbon copies of the replies.

Directly, there is a saving of paper. Indirectly, there is a saving of the more important steel, for the method cuts down on the need for filing cabinets, the college pointed out. It also eliminates the possibility of separating the reply from the original letter in the filing system.

The Philadelphia College of Osteopathy had previously effected an answer to the rubber shortage by cutting rubber bands out of discarded surgeon's gloves.

Epworth Church Fiscal Year Ends

Expect Reappointment Of Rev. William A. Thornton As Pastor For Another Year

Epworth Methodist church will conclude its fiscal and business year on Sunday, and all indications point to the year being one of the best the church has known for some years.

Efforts are being put forth to secure the best attendance possible and to secure funds adequate to make possible the meeting of every obligation. Rev. William A. Thornton will deal briefly with the general church situation in addition to preaching at the time of the morning service.

The session of the Erie annual conference will convene at Allegheny college, Meadville, on September 9.

The return of Rev. Thornton to the Epworth pastorate has been requested by the church for another year, and the continuance of his ministry is expected.

But why trust millions to conceal their lights when one man can throw a switch and do the whole job?

Hettie A. Pfeiffer, University Of Pittsburgh Sophomore Is Being Hunted

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 28.—Hettie A. Pfeiffer, 18-year-old University of Pittsburgh sophomore, was missing today and her parents, frantic with fear that Hettie "had done something desperate" enlisted the aid of the police.

The pretty daughter of a prominent Munhall dentist took a college chemistry examination Monday. On Tuesday she left her home as usual but failed to return that night. The following day, her distracted parents received a letter in which Hettie told them she was "sure I had flunked the exam. You can't be proud of me anymore. You're such wonderful parents I'm not deserving of you."

Last night her mother, worn out with worry and exhaustion, said:

"We don't care in the least about any exams. We just want her. She's a wonderful girl—our only child. If she only knew that her father is ill with worry, that he can't think of anything but her, I know she'd come home, for she adores her father."

Hettie had only $5 when she left home. Her mother said she is five feet, six inches tall; weighs 130 pounds; has dark curly hair, and at the time of her disappearance was wearing a dark skirt, red sweater, tan trench coat and white shoes.

Cargo War-Risk Rates Reduced

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—For the first time since Hitler launched his ruthless submarine campaign against Atlantic shipping, cargo war-risk rates today were reduced by the American Marine Insurance Underwriters.

Tthe drop, amounting to five points, was seen as a definite indication that the "rattlesnakes of the sea" are slowly but surely being overcome by improved convoy systems.

Most vitally affected by the reduction is trade between this country and South America. Heretofore, shipments between these points were insurable at a rate of 25 per cent or a premium of $15 for each $100 of value. The premium reduction to 20 per cent is expected greatly to increase trade especially between this country, Argentine and Brazil.

War Training Program Will Be Continued

Women and older men are expected to form the bulk of the enrollment for the new war training program of the Pennsylvania State College and Westminster College which will get underway locally within the next few weeks. Once again the courses offered will be fitted to the needs of local and nearby war industries.

The registration dates for these training courses have not yet been set, but when they are, all applicants will have the opportunity to determine their fitness for any particular type of training which may be offered.

This Engineering, Science and Management War Training program, which has qualified nearly 35,000 Pennsylvania men and women for technical jobs in war industries during the past two years, heretofore has catered to younger men but in the new government-approved program, women and older men are expected to outnumber the prospective Army draftees.

Younger men should not neglect this opportunity to acquire this training tution-free since the demand for technical skills is just as great in the armed services as it is in civilian life.

Present requests indicate that the courses to be offered will cover a wide field and will embrace all training which is vital to the war effort.

Need Not Utilize All Hospital Care In Same Period

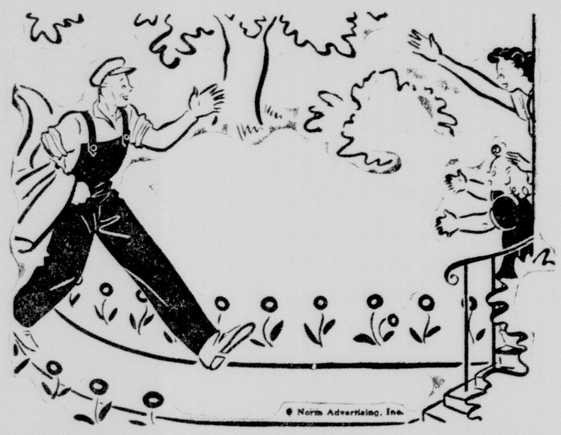

Residents of New Castle district who are protected by the group hospitalization plan in which the New Castle hospital and the Jameson Memorial hospital are cooperating, do not have to utilize the 21 days of hospital care available per contract year at one time, it is announced by the Hospital Service Association.

Under the plan a member may enter the hospital as often as necessary until the entire 21 days are used. This provision permits those enrolled to undergo hospitalization two or three or even more times within the space of a single year.

The 21 days of hospitalization care available per year are for each person protected in a family and should not be confused as meaning only 21 days for the entire family, the correct interpretation being much more liberal.

Babson Urges Every Person To Make Will Disposing Of Estate

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright—1942—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.

BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug. 28.—Whatever happens to our physical bodies, our property goes on just the same. When we "make" or "save" money we are taking on a responsibility which we cannot shake. If we inherit or put our savings into land, it can never be destroyed. If we put them into good buildings or securities they will long outlive us.

BABSON

This land, these buildings and these securities are boing to be a source of good or evil throughout the ages. Even if our heirs lose their money, the money is not "lost". It is represented by property which somebody has and which somebody may always have. Yet we alone are largely responsible for how it is used during the ages ahead.

Everyone Should Make a Will

Hence, it is of great importance that every reader make a Will. One of the most painful things to me is to see a man work scrape and save through his lifetime and yet give little thought to how his money will be used after he goes. Yet the "after" portion of time is far more important than the years lived. The accumulation period of a man's life is short; but the distribution period extends almost forever.

This Will determines how your estate is to be used during these ages ahead. Shall it be used constructively or destructively? Shall it make those who inherit it, better or worse? Who shall control it? These are vital questions: the future of hundreds of beneficiaries and descendants is intimately affected by the answers.

Get Family Approval

Only a coward or lazy person refuses to make a Will and keep it revised from time to time. Only a very selfish person refuses to take time to think out how his Will should be written, who should be remembered and to what extent. Then you should decide to whom and what portion you should give outright and what portion you should leave in trust. God holds you alone responsible for your decisions.

Before going to the lawyers to draw your Will—talk your plans over with your family and get their approval. When alive you can perhaps make them do as you want them to; but after you go they will be free to do as they wish. Hence, the only safe way to have your real wishes carried out is to convince your family of your wishes in advance.

Select Your Executor

Some people have the idea that if there is no Will a man's estate need not be administered. This is not so. Without a Will the law will divide; but the law cannot provide for charities of lifelong friends whom you might wish to remember. Even though you might divide your estate in the same manner as the law would today, tomorrow the legislature may change that law.

Without a Will, the court will appoint someone to act as administrator—perhaps someone you do not like. Through a Will, you can name an executor of your own choosing, and a guardian for your minor children. You can exempt both from furnishing surety company bonds, thereby saving expense to your estate. In short, you have the privilege of making your own plan and choosing the man to carry it out.

Talk With a Lawyer

Your Will is the most important document you can ever write; but a homemade Will is the most expensive one. Therefore, go to a good lawyer. Tell him of whom your family consists and their ages, of any special circumstances such as sickness or other incapacity of any of them. This is important because, in some states, wives or husbands have certain statutory rights which must be provided for; while in other states, failure to mention certain relatives may invalidate the Will.

It is essential that the person drawing your Will know the size of your estate, where it is situated, an accurate description of the property and in whose name it stands, whether it is encumbered by mortgage or otherwise, and whether investments and bank accounts are in single or joint names. Remember, joint property is not a reason for making no Will, but for making two Wills.

Life Insurance and Trusts

How about your life insurance? If payable to your estate, it will be taxable. If payable to a named beneficiary, as your wife or your children, in many states it will not be taxable; and does not pass by the terms of your Will. Alternate beneficiaries should be named in the event the one first named dies before you do. If you carry a substantial amount of life insurance, it might be better to leave this in trust, rather than have it paid to those inexperienced in investing money.

As to the Will itself: (1) Provide for the payment of debts and the expenses of administration. (2) Provide for the distribution of personal and household effects mentioning specific articles. (3) Provide for gifts to your church, favorite charity, friends as well as to members of your family. Where such gifts form a substantial part of the estate it may be better to give each a percentage of the estate rather than a fixed sum, otherwise the main beneficiaries, who are usually the family, may get little or nothing. (4) Consider forming a trust to assure wise management of your property after you go so that the principal shall be conserved and dependable income be provided. The varying needs of the future can be met by allowing the trustee to supplement income with payments from principal, whenever advisable. Such a trust makes it possible for one tax, one executor's fee and one probable cost to carry your estate across three generations.

Don't Forget

In case you have made a Will and want to change it, it is probably safer to make a codicil rather than a new Will. Your lawyer will tell you why. When making such a codicil, here are a few things you may have forgotten when making your Will. Put these into the codicil:

(1) provide the executor with cash and authority to use same to keep the family going while your estate is being settled.

(2) Authorize the executor or trustee to sell real estate and securities without order from the court. Tell him when to sell.

(3) Arrange for estate taxes, also that the stock of one or more close corporations may be held by any trustee you may appoint.

(4) If you want your business carried on by the executor or any trustee specifically say so.

(5) Have your Will kept by your bank or executor with a copy in your safe deposit box. Notify the executor when you have appointed him and talk the Will over with him often.

(6) Sign every page of typewritten documents.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—An intensive course in industrial camouflage, approved by the Office of Civilian Defense, will be given by the School of Fine Arts of the University of Pennsylvania, with the cooperation of the School of Art of Pratt Institute, it has been announced.

The purpose of the course, according to Dean George Simpson Koyl, of the School of Fine Arts, is to supply an informed group to which the committee on camouflage of the Defense Council may refer private or public industries who are planning protective camouflage.

Clarion County Hunts Iron Ore

(International News Service)

CLARION, Aug. 28.—A search for iron ore in Clarion county has produced samples running from 39.03 per cent to 58.1 per cent of metallic content, according to H. S. Keck, secretary of the Clarion County Chamber of Commerce. This compares favorably to other high grade iron ores, and may lead to re-opening the iron industry that once flourished in this county. The former coal and charcoal fired furnaces were closed down in 1850 when a protective tariff on iron was removed.

If found to be economically practical, ore from this county will be mined for the production of sponge iron as a substitute for scrap.

Naxi Assaults On Stalingrad Are Repulsed

systematically lashing at square after square after a pre-established pattern.

These bombs were followed by a rain of pamphlets, which pretended to name the date when a German victory parade would be held in the city.

German prisoners admitted that the first Nazi troopers to enter the city had been promised a six-week furlough.

City Remains Calm

Soviet fighters were in the air continuously, intercepting Nazi bombers and large transports bringing fuel and ammunition to the front.

Dispatches from the southern front said Marshal Semyon Timoshenko has succeeded in reorganizing and regrouping his forces following the wild fighting in which the Germans drove across the Don, and that he was holding his lines firmly despite the heaviest attacks on the ground and through the air.

There is every evidence today, the dispatches added, that the Stalingrad defenders are prepared for long siege.

Little Nazi Progress

In the past 36 hours the Germans have made little or no progress on the Stalingrad front. Wherever they have driven wedges into the Soviet positions or pierced the Russian lines furious counter-attacks have immediately wiped out the gains and driven the enemy back on his heels.

On the central front before Moscow the Soviet thrusts against the Nazi Rzhev salient pushed ahead and freed more towns and villages from control of the invaders.

While the red forces under Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov fought the enemy in the outskirts of heavily fortified Rzhev, Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's southern armies beat off all Nazi assaults on the Volga river lines protecting Stalingrad from furious enemy thrusts.

Enormous Nazi Losses

The Germans were reported suffering enormous losses in their massive drive to reach the Volga and the great sprawling industrial city of Stalingrad which feeds the Russian war machine.

The northern prong of the German pincers on Stalingrad drove a tank wedge into the Soviet lines but it was pinched off and the original positions restored by determined counter attacks, the Soviet communique declared.

On the Kotelnikovo front, 11 Nazi assaults were launched against the Russian lines without gain.

Only in the southern Caucasus were the Nazis able to advance. Moscow acknowledged further withdrawals in the vicinity of Prokhladnaya, 80 miles northwest of the Grozny oil fields bordering the Caspian sea.

The midnight communique told of a new offensive developing on the central (Moscow) front which had carried forward and occupied seven more towns and villages and driven the Germans from a strongly fortified locality.

Counter Attacks

Counter-attacks wiped out a force of Nazi riflemen who had infiltrated to the rear of Russian positions on the sector northeast of Stalingrad, the communique said.

South of the Don, on the Kotelnikovo front, the enemy drove a wedge northeast of the town but it was quickly driven back.

In the Prokhladnaya area in the southern Caucasus Soviet forces fought defensive battles, the communique acknowledged.

Heaviest fighting was reported northwest of Stalingrad where heavily reinforced German divisions temporarily broke through the Russian defenses in the attempt to sweep on to the Volga.

For a time the Soviet flank on this front was seriously threatened. Furious attacks by fresh Russian divisions quickly threw the enemy back and removed the threat.

Widening Front

Other key points on the widening front from Rzhev to the deep Caucasus also saw bitter fighting. Areas of combat mentioned by the communique, but which gave no details of the actions, were southeast of Kletskaya in the Don elbow northwest of Stalingrad, south of Krasnodar in the western Caucasus area bordering the Black sea, and Mozdok in the south-central Caucasus, 65 miles from Grozny.

Soviet circles gave little details of the progress of the offensive on the Moscow front, but much significance was attached to the Moscow announcement that Marshal Zhukov had been named first deputy to Premier Josef Stalin in his capacity as defense commissar.

The appointment was widely interpreted as giving extreme importance to the Rzhev-Vyazma offensive.

Immediate objective of the drive was believed to be the elimination of this German salient into the Russian lines, and Rzhev itself, at the point of the salient, was under terrific pressure by Soviet artillery and bombers.

The town was declared to be a mass of flames and smoking ruins.

But evidence that the attack was progressing in Oter areas was seen in the announcement that another 80 inhabited localities have been liberated in the Russian advance.

AUTOMATIC FIRE SIGNAL SET OFF

City firemen were called to the Johnson Bronze Co. plant on South Mill street at 8:22 o'clock Thursday evening, when the automatic fire system at the plant was set off. There was no fire however.

Wednesday evening, firemen were called to the rear of the home of Mike Pallott, of 409 Cascade street, when a stove pipe placed through the roof, set fire to the material surrounding it. Damage of $5 was reported by firemen.

Invited to U. S.

NAZI INDUSTRIAL CITY OF KASSEL IS BOMBED BY RAF

Moscow radio that Soviet war planes had dealt heavy blows to Germany's war industry by a series of attacks which embraced the center of Berlin itself.

Kassel, which lies 410 miles due east of London and 100 miles east of "blitzed" Cologne, has a normal population of 175,000 persons.

The city stands on the river Weser, and is a rail and barge center for the manufacturing areas of the rich Ruhr Valley. Leipzig, Dresden, Coblentz, Frankfurt, Munich and Berlin all send their communications lines into this vital city.

Kassel's own industrial contributions to the German war effort are manifold. Its principal factories include the Henschel locomotive works, which are the largest of their kind on the continent of Europe.

Kassel also produces engines for Messerschmitt fighter planes and Daimler motors for high-powered cars such as used by Adolf Hitler and his staff.

New Berlin Attacks

Prior to announcement of the raid on Kassel, interest centered upon Moscow's disclosure that new attacks had been made on Berlin.

Large fires were left burning in the center of Adolf Hitler's capital, the Russian announcements said, and even a Nazi high command communique admitted that a Soviet plane had penetrated to Berlin's outskirts.

Danzig, Koenigsberg, Stettin and Tilsit were left in flames by Soviet bombers, which launched large-scale attacks against eastern Germany, Moscow said. British and American bombers lashed out against the Reich anew following a day of widespread raids on occupied France and Holland, the air ministry announced.

Details of the raid were not immediately announced but Reuter's news agency reported the Berlin radio had admitted that RAF bombers were over western, central and northeastern Germany during the night.

The Berlin report said six RAF planes were shot down and made its usual claim that only non-military areas had been damaged.

Raid On Northern England

A small force of German raiders bombed points in northern England during the night, the air ministry announced. Some damage and a number of casualties were reported.

The forays into Germany were accompanied by constant attacks during the night on the coast of France. Formations of heavy and light bombers and fighters roared across the channel in an endless procession and heavy explosions were heard from the Calais area, opposite Dover, where the channel contracts to its narrowest width.

Clear brilliant weather was ideal for the aerial offensive.

Throughout the day and into the late evening RAF and American squadrons carried out sweeps over occupied France and the lowlands.

Huge four-motored American Flying Fortress squadrons, with an escort of Spitfire fighters swept across the channel to bomb the German-operated shipyards of Rotterdam. Hits were scored on two vessels in the ship basin and bombs were dropped "on the center of the target," a communique announced.

As on previous attacks carried out by Fortress squadrons, all planes returned to their bases.

INJURED IN FALL

Harry Johnson, of Oak street, is getting along as well as can be expected. Mr. Johnson fell about 25 feet from the roof of a house he was helping to dismantle, when a timber 2x4 snapped and let him through, on Wednesday. He sustained a broken arm, sprained ankle, and body lacertions.

Rev. Fr. E. Rowan New Assignment

Rev. Fr. Edmund F. He will leave on Wednesday, and will assume his new duties on Thursday, September 3.

During the length of time that Father Rowan has been in this vicinity, he has made many friends, and his departure will be deeply felt.

Before assuming duties at Wampum, Father Rowan was chaplain of the New Castle hospital for a year.

At St. Catherine's, Fr. Rowan replaces Rev. Fr. John Maher.

Red Cross Adds Another Mobile First Aid Unit

Lawrence County Chapter Now Well Equipped With Gift From Attorney Joe McFate

Lawrence county chapter of the American Red Cross has added a second mobile first aid unit to the emergency hospital unit under Dr. Paul H. Wilson, medical officer of the O. C. D. and medical advisor on the chapter's disaster preparedness program.

Joseph McFate has generously converted his station wagon into a well equipped mobile first aid unit for any emergencies which may arise in the chapter jurisdiction. This unit will be ready for all air raid drills under the supervision of H. J. Culliford, director of first aid. This unit and the chapter motor corps station wagon will serve as ambulances or to transport supplies where the need arises.

Supplementing these two station wagons are two station wagons of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Crawford Hoyt loaned for the duration to the chapter for any purpose arising in the chapter jurisdiction.

This gives the Lawrence county chapter a splendid set of mobile units and offers an excellent protection to the county in case of need.

Traffic Toll Is Decreased In U. S.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28. — Traffic deaths in the United States are declining sharply but, unless they are reduced even more, the 1942 total will exceed 30,000.

That was the gist of a summary issued tonight by the national safety council in reporting that much improvement had been shown but that there still was no room for complacency.

July fatalities numbered 2,300. That was a decrease of 30 per cent and it was the second successive months to show a reduction of that size in comparison with the same months of 1941.

But the council warned that a slackening in travel by drivers anxious to conserve gasoline, tires and cars had by no means solved the safety problem.

During the first seven months of this year, 16,870 lives were lost—a decline of 17 per cent under the total for a similar 1941 period.

SHARON, Aug. 28.—Sharon police and officers from Ashtabula, O., today sought Virgil Case, West Budd street, wanted by the Ohio officers for the theft of tires from three automobiles in Ashtabula.

Or by compression of the chest between two solid objects.

Or external violence to the region of the abdomen.

Lifting very heavy objects may damage the heart.

It is not the latent force which injures the heart.

But the velocity of travel of the force striking the body.

In youth the chest is more resilient than in the aged.

A striking force is more apt to damage the young heart.

Heart injury may occur without immediate manifestations.

This is especially true if the injury is not severe.

Colorado Hens Must Help War

(International News Service)

FORT COLLINS, Colo., Aug. 28.—Colorado hens were ordered today to get busy and help win the war.

Federal agricultural officials instructed poultry farmers to put their hens on a 98-hour laying week beginning September 15 to raise egg production during the fall and winter.

H. S. Wilgus Jr. of the Colorado experiment station, pointed out that by using lights in hen houses 14 hours a day through the colder months the hens will produce many more eggs to meet skyrocketing war demands.

But how can you help the Greeks and Chinese and buy bonds till you see how much the tax man intends to leave you?

Six Liberty Ships Will Be Launched During Labor Day

Will Be Named After Heroes Of Organized Labor During Ceremonies

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The Maritime commission announced today that America's shipbuilders will observe Labor Day by launching six Liberty ships named after heroes of organized labor.

Rear Admiral H. L. Vickery, vice chairman, said that all of the 60 shipyards, which are rushing to turn out 2,300 new ships by the end of 1943, will be open for work on Labor Day. Each yard will hold a brief ceremony to mark labor's contribution to the war effort.

Four of the six new Liberty ships will go down the ways on the west coast and two in the east. The launching ceremonies will be linked by a coast-to-coast radio broadcast.

The vessels will be named:

Samuel Gompers, Andrew Furseth, Peter J. McGuire, James Duncan, John Mitchell, and John W. Brown.

Gompers was one of the founders of the AFL and served as president for 35 years until his death in 1924. Furseth fought for the cause of the merchant seamen and was president of the International Seamen's union and secretary of the Sailor's Union of the Pacific. Originator of Labor Day, McGuire was also founder of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners and secretary of the AFL when it was founded.

Duncan was president of the Granite Cutters' International Association and first vice president of the AFL. Mitchell was president of the United Mine Workers until his death in 1919, while Brown organized Local No. 4 of the Industrial Organization of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers.

Child Labor Laws Will Be Relaxed

Move Authorized In Order To Aid War Efforts In Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 28.—The State Industrial Board has authorized Secretary of Labor and Industry Lewis G. Hines to relax child labor laws in order to permit boys and girls 16 and 17 years of age to work 48 instead of 44 hours a week, it was disclosed today by Mrs. Mary R. Morrow, head of the bureau of hours and minimum wages.

The move was made necessary, explained Mrs. Morrow, because the supply of older labor is becoming exhausted and threatens to affect adversely production in war industries.

The board also authorized Hines to relax occupational standards so as to permit minors to work in jobs formerly prohibited to them.

Mrs. Morrow emphasized that no blanket relaxation of the child labor laws has been authorized. "Companies must make individual applications for relaxation of the laws and each case will be considered on its merits," she said.

Hundred Seized In Jersey Raids

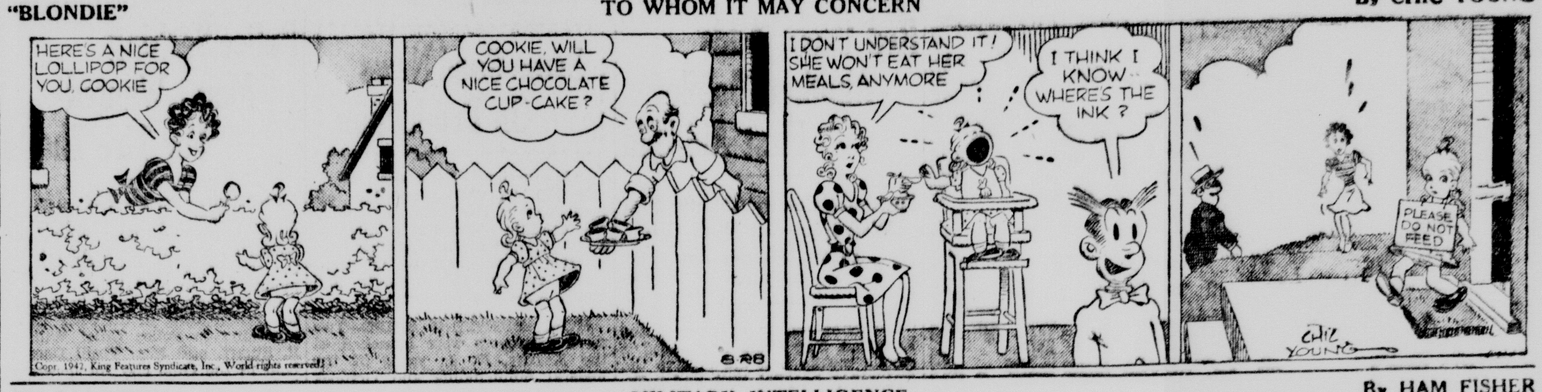

(International News Service)

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 28.—Swooping down on the homes of enemy aliens in 66 New Jersey towns, FBI agents and police today seized more than 100 men and women, many of them Nazi party members, in the greatest mass round-up of aliens in New Jersey since Pearl Harbor.

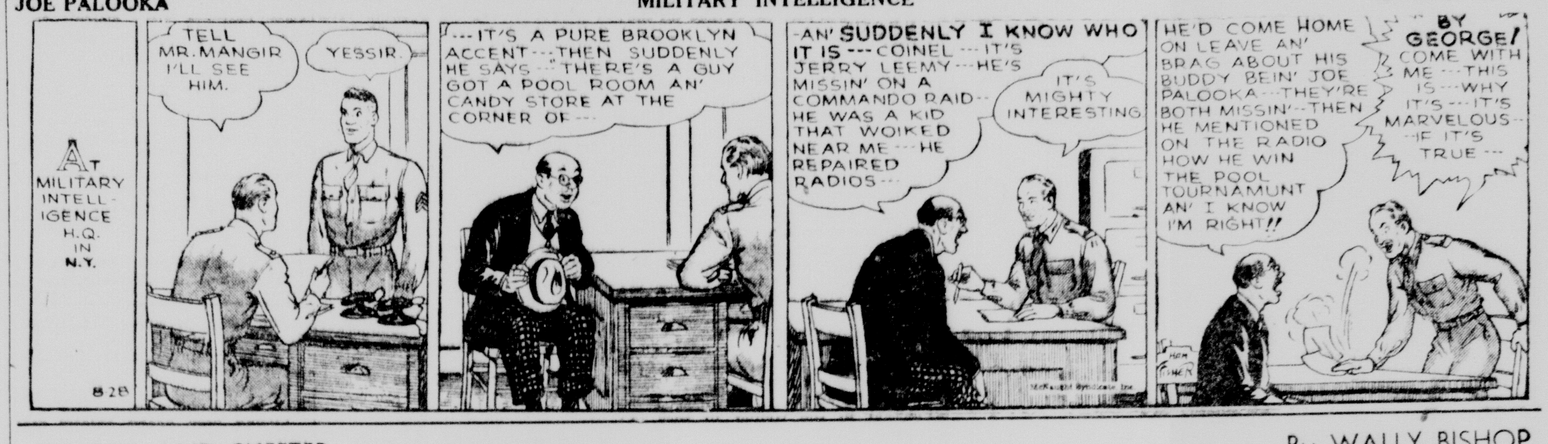

A force of 100 federal agents and as many local and New Jersey state police participated in the carefully-timed raids.

All were termed "dangerous to the internal security of the United States" by E. E. Conroy, assistant director of the FBI, who revealed that several were members-in-good-standing of the German national socialist party

Warns U. S. Against Undue War Optimism

By HUGO SPECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Military observers in Washington today warned against undue optimism on the overall military situation as a result of United Nations successes during the last few days.

They cited the following as legitimate reasons upon which some measure of momentary optimism might be based:

The welcome and important news issued by the Navy that the Japs have been routed in their counter-offensive against the Solomon Islands; success of the Russian counter-offensive in the Rzhev sector west of Moscow, in which no less than 45,000 German soldiers were reported to be killed; reports that the Japs are evacuating Lishui and Chuhsien in China, from where Tokyo can be bombed; blasting by Allied bombers of the important Jap base of Lashion in northern Burma, and initial success of New Zealand troops against the Italian Bologna division in North Africa.

See Enthusiasm

They agreed that a wave of enthusiasm is bound to follow, especially the news that the Japs have been blasted out of some of the Solomons. But they declared, in taking a long view of the entire situation, that this all-important victory and minor successes on other fronts should not be allowed to distort the seriousness of the United Nations cause.

Bluntly it is stated that as long as the Nazis continue to advance in the Caucasus and tighten their pincer grip on Stalingrad, the overall situation must be viewed with the gravest concern.

Further, analysts seem certain that Hitler's main immediate objective in Russia—and agree it is a must for him—is to reach the Caspian.

Nazi Plans

As a result, the opinion is expressed that the Nazis can be expected to give way to strong Russian pressure in the Rzhev sector in order to reach the wanted objective in the south. The crux of the situation is there, these observers say.

In the same manner, it is declared that the curtain is undoubtedly ready to go up on a "fight to the finish" in North Africa, where Rommel's forces are strongly entrenched within striking distance of Alexandria, the Suez and the gateway to the Middle East. That menace has yet to be disposed of, it is stated, before optimism can prevail about conditions in that part of the world.

Concurrently, one section of military opinion is inclined to see something much deeper than a mere Jap retreat in giving ground in the Chuhsien sector in China. This section openly declares that those Jap troops are evidently being withdrawn for use "elsewhere". Whether that will be against Siberia or India there is no certainty, but they do believe that the Far East will see major operations in the near future on a new front.

Lastly, although the Jap Solomon drive was crushed, they did succeed in getting a foothold at Milne Bay, on the southeast tip of New Guinea, and if they succeed in holding, it can cause much trouble in that area.

C.I.O.-Aluminum Workers Reject W. L. B. Decision

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 28. — CIO-Aluminum workers in six Alcoa plants have rejected the war labor board decision denying them a $1 a day wage increase, and simultaneously authorized their president to call a strike in the war-vital industry if necessary, it was learned today.

Plants which voted to back the union's executive board to the limit were: New Kensington, Pa.; Alcoa, Tenn.; Badin, N. C.; Edgewater, N. J.; Bridgeport, Conn.; and Detroit, Mich. Only one plant unit was missing, Bauxite, Ark., and union officials expected the vote there to be the same as in other districts.

International president N. A. Zonarich was expected to file exceptions with the war labor board, and if that is refused, to appeal directly to President Roosevelt for intervention. He and other officers have indicated they would expose every possible avenue of settlement before taking any drastic action.

Aviation Student Glides Plane To A Crash Landing

(International News Service)

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Aviation Student Paul E. Meyer, 19, of Kelly Field, knew the answer to a mid-air crash when he collided with another Kelly Field ship piloted by Lt. A. C. Duncan—he glided to safety.

The crash occurred 12 miles from the airdrome and young Meyer found that his propellor was so damaged that to have used it he would have shaken his ship to pieces. He also was unable to let down his landing wheels so he glided the plane to a crash landing.

Kelly Field fliers refer to his feat as "remarkable."

Lieut. Duncan rode his plane from the 17,000 feet altitude where the crash took place to about 11,000 feet and then bailed out and landed unharmed about a mile and a half from the port.

Meyer's father, Paul F. Meyer, was an aviation mechanic in World War I.

RADIO INSTRUCTOR PLAN

SCOTT FIELD, Ill.—A streamlined instruction plan to speed the number of radio operators for the Army Air Forces and increase their efficiency has been adopted at this AAF technical training command school. Under the new plan "general" radio training is eliminated. Instead students at this "radio university" will be taught the subject in which they show outstanding aptitude. In the past, students were trained as radio operator-mechanics. Now they will be trained as operaors or mechanics.

F. S. A. Compiles Safety Rules For Farm Workers

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA — Ten all-embracing rules for safe-guarding farm hands against accident are listed by the Farm Security Administration. Each item in the list is identical—and reads: "Be Careful."

Disclosing that farm mishaps last year cost more man-hours than strikes in industry, the F. S. A. indicated that the danger this year will be greater, because farmers will not have the newest and safest machinery.

Surveys indicate that 98 of every 100 farm accidents last year could have been avoided, and that careless use of tractors and other equipment caused 29 of every 100 accidents.

Maybe Indian Hid Confederate Bills

(International News Service)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — If enemy planes ever bomb Chattanooga, the ruins of at least one house will be carefully searched by citizens.

It is believed that approximately $15,000 was hidden in the wall of a house at 110 First street by an Indian spy, who attempted to poison General U. S. Grant in 1853.

According to the story, the Confederates planned to poison General Grant, and after hiring an Indian to do the work, gave him $250,000 to be used in his espionage, if necessary.

But the Indian fell in love with a pretty housekeeper who prepared the General's food. She was given $35,000 to poison the food, but instead betrayed the Indian, who was shot by Union soldiers. The remainder of the $250,000 was not accounted for.

There's a bright side. If a destroyer breaks a light bulb, it need not wait for a member of the electricians' union to replace it.

It is stated that the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, Dominion of Canada, contain more than half the population of Canada.

College Stars Set For Bears

Over 100,000 Fans To Gather For Ninth Classic In Soldier Field Tonight

INSTALL PRO CZARS AS TOP FAVORITES

By H. C. WARREN
(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—One hundred and one thousand fans, ninety-nine athletes, ten coaches and some 10,000 soldiers, sailors, marines and musicians were ready today for wartime America's biggest sports spectacle—the ninth all-star football game to be presented tonight at Soldier Field.

Practice sessions were completed for the 99 athletes, 64 members of the college All-Star squad and the 35 players on the Chicago Bears aggregation and they will demonstrate again that year-after-year the all-star games attract larger crowds than any other sports event in America.

The 64 collegians represent the All-Americans and the near-All Americans in football who completed their scholastic careers last June. The 35 professional players represent the team that two years in a row won the championship of the National Football league.

The collegians, coached by Head Coach Bob Zuppke, for 29 years the head football mentor at the University of Illinois, and his assistants, Frank Leahy, Lon Stiner, Homer Norton, Burt Ingwersen and Lynn Waldorf, went through only a light limbering up drill at Northwestern university, following their dress rehearsal at Soldier Field Wednesday night.

Bears Big Favorites

The Chicago Bears are top-heavy favorites to defeat the collegians as the result of their sweep through the National Football league during the past two years with their far-famed T-formation.

The program will get under way officially when Elmer Layden, commissioner of professional football and former coach of Notre Dame, will present the league's most valuable player award to Don Hutson, Green Bay Packer end.

Amos Alonzo Stagg, former coach of the University of Chicago and at present coach of the College of the Pacific, will present an award to George Franck, former University of Minnesota Star, who was voted the most valuable player of the All-Star squad last year. Franck is now a cadet in the Naval Air corps at Corpus Christi, Tex.

WCAE will broadcast part of the game starting at 11:15 o'clock.

"Sugar" Scores One Round Kayo

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Sweet "Sugar" Robinson today owned his 124th consecutive boxing victory.

The sensational colored battler last night jelled Tony Motisi of Chicago in the first round of a scheduled 10-round bout in Comiskey Park before 7:889 fans, all of whom knew what the result would be even before the performers crawled in between the ropes.

Joe Maxim, Cleveland heavyweight, knocked out Jack Marshall, Texas, in the eighth.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Scrambling a few short bits:—

Anxious to hop into one of those Penn State grid outfits, Walt Jaskolka can hardly wait for departing day, Sunday, Sept. 6. The 18-year-old backfield whiz did a little spring training with the Nittany Lions and was an impressive figure.

The easy-to-look-at west end star edged into prominence while trucking the pigskin for Union township high. Barring injuries, Jaskolka should write an interesting football episode at State. He has what it takes.

Moose baseball club, local New York Yankees, will toss a shindig in honoring members of the team who soon will ditch their flannels for a khaki uniform. The party is a Thursday, Sept. 3, event.

The New York Giants have an ex-senator in their line-up! He's Jim Lee Howell, an end, who recently lost the title as a result of primaries in Arkansas on Tuesday, Aug. 18.

Many of the 4,000 fans gathered at Shibe Park to watch the last-place Athletics play Detroit a twi-night doubleheader the other night brought their lunches. They had something to show for night, anyhow.

Figures disclose that something must be wrong with baseballs used in the majors. In the first place, the National tops the American, or did up to the start of last week-end, in number of homers, 449-444. Back in 1938, 864 offerings sailed into Home Run City. The two loops will have to step on it to reach the 500 mark this season.

Which brings us to the matter of balls for next season—provided we have baseball. The War Department Service will decide how much rubber can be used in the manufacture of balls for the duration. Experiments are now under way by the supplies department.

Persons who held season tickets last year will find the same ducats available.

Pasteboards for the Butler game, which opens the season on September 11, will be placed on sale on September 8 with the same prices as last year being in effect, 85 cents for sections 4 and 55 cents for sections 5, 6, 7, and seats across the field.

Notch Is Winner Over Lew Jenkins

Chalky Wright Ices Joey Marinelli In Two Reels; Over 3,500 See Fights

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Aug. 28.—Carmen Notch, classy welterweight from Pittsburgh, today held a 10-round decision over Lew Jenkins, the former lightweight titlist.

Notch, making excellent use of his speed, earned the nod from Referee Sam Hennessey and Judge Frank Fisher. Judge Frank Neville voted in favor of Jenkins.

In the other main event at Arena Gardens, Chalky Wright who is recognized by the New York Boxing Commission as the featherweight champion of the world, kayoed Joey Marinelli, of Dayton, O., in two rounds. Before he went down for good, Marinelli had been on the floor three other times—once for a nine count.

There were no knockdowns in the close battle between Notch and Jenkins and the bout was simply a case of speed and youth vs. experience and punching power. The speed and youth won the decision was generally approved by the 3,600 fans who paid $6,500.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Fistania of almost 35 years ago and later, the Jolly bowl, was rehased yesterday when Bill Jolly, Tom McMahon, Patsy Brannigan, the writer and others now in the Old Timers division stopped in East Washington street where T. M. and P. B. held a reception. Some men bent with age who knew both Patsy and Tom more than three decades ago when they were in the front row of Pugilism stopped to greet them. Jolly as the helmsman of the bowl also staged some great fights 15 years ago.

During the rehash, "McMahon who likes to "kid", side-whispered to one of the group: "Ask Patsy about Sid Godfrey." The writer caught the side-whisper and replied: "Don't, because if someone does, Patsy is apt to ask you Tom, about Fred Fulton or Bob Martin."

"I was through when I fought them" smiled Tom. And then he told how miserable Brannigan felt after Godfrey had been awarded a TKO over Brannigan in Australia when the American boy's nose was so badly cut the blood couldn't be stopped and the referee stopped the fight in the last round.

To this day, Brannigan believes he should have been allowed to finish the twentieth round. He believes that had Jimmie Dime been in his corner the bout would not have been stopped. It was the only time, in more than 600 fights that he was TKO'd. In fact he was only knocked down once in America. Kid Williams did this. Pat arose and floored the Kid.

There is another fighter's name on the record books who holds the record of only having been stopped once. He was the late Harry Grob. Joe Chip knocked him out. Incidentally Joe was with Brannigan the night that Patsy lost to Godfrey.

Brannigan started fighting when he was 13 years of age. When called to the dinner table by his dear old mother, at whose table we ate several times, she called him Johnny. He met Ziringer, Griffith, Louisiana, Eppy, Monte Attel, Phoencie, Williams, Walsh, Kilbane and Coulon, in fact every topnotcher.

He was a great left hooker and yet retains lightness of feet. He was as tough as hickory—his courage was never dimmed. He scarcely shows any signs today of having milled against the greatest of flyweights, bantamweights, featherweights and some good lightweights. Although at his heaviest he never weighed over 122 when right.

Strenuous Drills Tire Grid Squad

New Castle High Atheletes Scurry For Bed Following Two Sessions Thursday

Confident of being selected on the varsity squad, New Castle High's 1942 football aspirants are laboring like Trojans at Taggart stadium.

Yesterday's two sessions were more strenuous than the preceding day and sent the athletes home scurrying for their beds.

Such he-man tactics as tackling, blocking and charging formed part of the exercises. After lunging at the dummy, the boys tackled each other. The contingent charged up and down the stadium turf several times, this exercise being a champion leg developer.

Head Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh today said that he would select the varsity squad following Saturday morning's drill.

Next Monday morning the squad will head for Muddy Creek Falls for a week.

Dodgers Finally Subdue Cards, 4-1

National Leaders Salvage One Game Of Series; Indians Halt Tex Hughson

"HANK" GORNICKI SHUTS OUT BRAVES

By JACK MAHON
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—A lanky, skinny guy named Curtis B. Davis, who wasn't good enough for them a couple of years ago, may have shot the St. Louis Cardinals pennant hopes full of holes.

That's what the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers believed, anyway, as they tore into Chicago, fighting mad, today for a two game series, their second stop on a junket they hope will enable them to sew up their second straight National League flag.

After dropping three straight to the Cards in St. Louis and seeming to be on the skids, the Brooklynites, with Davis starring on the mound and at the plate, knocked off the Cards, 4 to 1, yesterday to increase their league lead to five and one half games.

Davis was a Daniel Boone in the mufti of the National League. He was seldom in trouble, held the terrorists of the Rickey-Breadon regime to eight hits and knocked in the first two runs in a wild fifth inning in which the boys from the banks of the Gowanus pushed across all four runs.

14th For Davis

Max Lanier, the southpaw magician, who whipped them in the first game of this "money" series was sent against Brooklyn for the finale and was doing great until the Bums broke out in a rash of six base hits in the fifth. These drove him to the showers and gave Daniel Boone Davis enough ammunition to coast to his fourteenth victory, against five defeats, this year.

It was the battery team of Mickey Owen and Davis which decided the game. Hickey opened the fifth with a single to center. Vaughan slashed a roller to right and Owen, gambling against the strong arm of Enos (Country) Slaughter, tore for third. He not only made it, when the throw was wide, but on the play Arky got to second.

Here Davis, who was shipped to Brooklyn, as the "peanuts" in the highly publicized deal for Ducky Medwick two years ago, stepped to the plate and delivered a single through the box, scoring both his mates, standing up. Singles by Reese and Herman scored Davis and brought Ernie White to the rescue of Lanier.

White got Reiser on a foul but Medwick hit safely scoring Pee Wee with the final run.

As if this wasn't enough for one afternoon, Davis chucked such brilliant ball that he missed his sixth shutout of the year only because an error by Billy Herman in the third gave the Redbirds an unearned run.

The old squeeze play, executed by the master, Billy Jurges, sparked a two run Giant rally in the eleventh inning and carried the New Yorkers to a 2 to 0 win over Cincinnati at the Redbirds' field.

Jurges' bunt enabled Buster Maynard to scamper across the plate standing up with the first run of the ball game, then Pitcher Harry Feldman singled home Harry Danning, who was also on the paths, with the only other tally of the contest.

Pirates Win, 5-0

Feldman held the Reds to six hits in hanging up his fifth victory at the expense of Ray Starr and Joe Beggs. In the only other game in the National loop, Harry Gornicki of the Pittsburgh Pirates hung a two hit shutout on the Boston Braves at Forbes Field, 5-0.

Though the champion New York Yankees and most of the other clubs were idle in the American League, that circuit provided one item of interest when Tex Hughson, the Boston Red Sox's ace, was finally stopped by the Cleveland Indians after having won 11 straight games!

The Indians whipped Tex with two runs in the ninth inning, 4 to 2.

This victory was credited to Jim Bagby of the Tribe, his 15th of the season, and also snapped the Red Sox's string of consecutive wins at nine in a row. It left the Beantowners 8 full games behind the Yankees.

FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—They say champions are not necessarily lucky, they merely make their own breaks.

The New York Yankees, for instance, cash in on phenomenal things at times, things that don't happen to other ball clubs. Enough of these things add up into a pennant. I wouldn't know for sure whether it is luck or superiority.

Which leads us around to the fact that this is a good time for the Brooklyn Dodgers to begin protecting their National league championship for a repeat performance by making some breaks for themselves in the manner of champions before they blow a pennant which seemingly they had won. They have been leading their league so long and by such a wide margin through most of this season that everybody was prone to pass the flag to them again and let it go at that—everybody, that is, except the St. Louis Cardinals.

Not In Yet

The latter cut the Dodgers' lead from 7½ to 4½ games in three days and can trim it further. So the Dodgers are not in yet, in keeping with a little piece in this space of a week or so ago, when it was suggested that the Dodgers still could blow, beginning with the St. Louis series.

The answer to all this is quite simple. So completely obvious that here it is in a few words: The Cards have a tough, good, young, game ball club with great pitching. The Dodgers have a veteran team which is about to wilt under the pressure. Too many veterans can cause that. Also, the Cards, back in second place have nothing to lose and all to gain.

So here they come. They won three straight from the Dodgers and they have made a pennant race out of it again this season, just as they did last. They also won 13 out of their last 17 starts through yesterday.

The Cards are doing it with youth against veterans who begin to fag out as the season wearies along, and that is the answer to the whole thing. The Dodgers still should win, but once more they won't be champion of the Cardinals. The latter will finish this season again with more victories than the Dodgers in games between the two teams.

The Cards have the pitching right now from Mort Cooper, Max Lanier, Ernie White and Johnny Beazley and they are getting good hitting from the rest of the club, suddenly to keep the Dodgers from making a walk-away of the pennant race. And if the Cards win the pennant, you can bet that one of them—perhaps Mort Cooper — will be chosen as the National league's most valuable player.

And there I go saying if they win the pennant. That sounds very strange considering that up to three days ago, a Dodger victory in the National league race seemed ordained.

Repetition Of 1941

This is pretty much a repetition of what happened last year, except for the fact that this time the Dodgers finish the season in the east and with a majority of games at home instead of having to fight through the west in the closing stages as they did last year. That may be their salvation.

This time the rest have to come to the Dodgers, including the Cards, who open a series at Ebbet's field on September 11.

That will be it. The pennant probably will be definitely won and lost in that series, although the Dodgers have done a very handy job of blowing it at St. Louis in the last few days.

Moose-Elders To Play Tonight

Moose and Elders will do it all over again tonight on Marshall field starting at 6 o'clock.

The bitter sandlot rivals, who played a ding-dong fray Tuesday night which was halted on account of darkness, are set for the encore.

In view of the fact that the Moose lost last night, the outcome is important to the Rodenbaughmen who now lead the City league by only 2½ games. The Slovaks and Ellwood are tied for second place.

NO TIME-OUT

The 1942 schedule of the Pennsylvania football team includes nine games. For start to finish there is not a single so-called breather.

Ellwood Jolts Moose Club, 5-0

Setback Snaps Five Game Streak; Slovaks-Ellwood Tied For Second

CROTON FLATTENS LAWRENCE INDIES

Triumphant five times in a row, the Moose club saw its colors dunked in defeat paint Thursday night as City league teams paraded closer to the end of an exciting season.

The league leaders rolled into Ellwood City confident of tacking up another win. After the final out had been recorded, the Ellwood City Socials stacked up its fifth straight, 5-0, and remained in a tie for second place honors.

Blazin, Smith and Franus backed up McCready's two-hit pitching with timely blows. Mash and Frigione collected the lone Moose safeties. The setback whittled the Moose's lead to 2½ games over Ellwood and the Slovaks.

The Slovaks are still nestled in second place with the Ellwoodians following an impressive 5-4 nod over the Elder A. C. on Marshall field.

Slovaks Win, 5-4

The winners copped the decision in the fifth with a three-run splurge. Three hits and four Elder errors netted the Slovaks three markers and the game. In the home seventh, the Elders knitted together four straight singles. Maher lined to Majeski; Gibson flied to Koszella who threw beautifully to home to double Thorman for the final out.

Croton handed the last place Lawrence Indies another setback, 5-1, on Cedar street grounds.

The five-inning skirmish was settled in the third when the winners pushed across three runs. Appecelli was the hitting star, slamming a double and a single.

The News received no report regarding the West Pittsburg-Bessemer game.

All Hosses On Hand For Saturday Race At Washington Park

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—With the arrival of the formidable Valdina Farm entry, Rounders and Valdina Orphan, all the probable starters were on hand today at Washington park for the $78,000 American Derby of a mile and a quarter to be run Saturday afternoon.

Alsab, picked up for a mere $700 by Attorney Al Sabath of Chicago, reigned as the favorite to take the big end of the rich purse in spite of the high class of competition he will meet. The prospects today were that six would go to the post, possibly seven.

They are Alsab, the two Valdina colts, Aletern, King's Abbey, Anti-Climax, and possibly With Regards. The latter was regarded as a sure starter in the event of a muddy track, and perhaps will go even if the track is fast.

Brough Gets Past First Tennis Test

(International News Service)

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Better than Alice Marble, at a comparable age. That is Louise Brough, the 19-year old who started out to prove that she rates being an overwhelming favorite for the National Women's Tennis crown by limiting the former No. 4 ranking star, Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn, to two games on opening day of the championship tournament at Forest Hills.

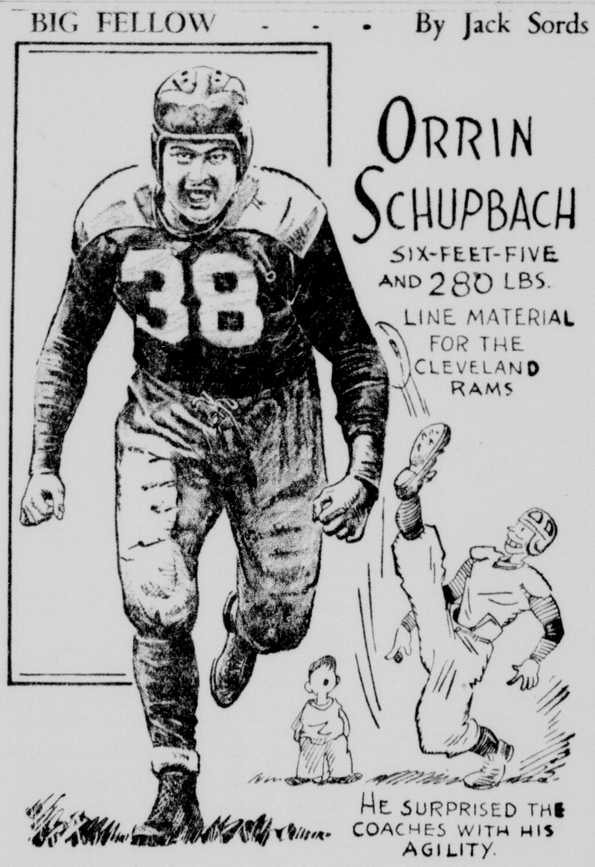

And the better than Marble statement comes right out of the mouth of the one who should know better than anybody else, Alice Marble herself, the Alice who won four national titles until she turned pro in 1940 and who was considered the greatest women's star of them all.

"Louise is a much better player than I was at 19," said Alice after Brough had beaten Mrs. Van Ryn, 6-0, 6-2. "I had to change over my game, so that when I returned to competition in 1936, I played entirely different tennis.

Mike McCormick of the Reds, out with a broken leg since Memorial Day, has been working out at Crosley Field since the Reds left on their recent road trip and probably will be inserted into the lineup in the next couple of weeks.

ALWAYS REGARDED

Mucho Gusto had never approached the fame of such great thoroughbreds as Seabiscuit, Whirlaway, Man O'War and other owners of flying hooves in Kentucky, but Old Gus was always regarded as a horse fan's horse and he has left his name engraved on turfdom's Hall of Fame.

Murray To Fight In Garden Tonight

Bellaire Mixer Who Fought Here Many Times To Face Beau Jack

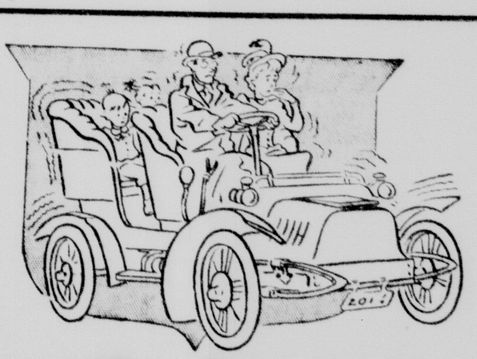

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Promoter Mike Jacobs will follow the style set by the wrestling trusts tonight at Madison Square Garden by presenting a card of 'four all-star' boxing bouts.

Cleo Shans, Los Angeles lightweight, meets Maxie Shapiro of New York's East Side, in the ten round bout given top billing by the fistic impresario.

In other ten rounders, Danny Bartfield, New York lightweight, will clash with Carmelo Fenoy; Beau Jack, lightweight from Springfield, Mass., will face Billy Murray of Bellaire, Ohio, and Jake Lamotta, New York welterweight, will meet Jimmy Edgar of Detroit.

During his amateur career, Billy Murray fought in New Castle many times. He was so impressive that the local fight gang tabbed him as a comer after his first two showings here.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Attention: Meseeall.
Dear Sir:

Reference is here made to your column which appeared in the Tuesday night's issue, August 25, 1942, much of which was commendable and instructive and absolutely in accord with the regulations.

There is one sentence however which might lead to confusion and the writer would like to correct it: "You will be expected to work the streets wherever you might be, don't try to get home after you hear the signal. Find the headquarters in which you are and work that territory as the post commander directs . . . if you can't find the post commander do the best you can."

If the above suggestion is taken literally it can only lead to confusion. The air raid warden is assigned to a definite precinct and a definite district in that precinct; basically and fundamentally he is supposed to know that particular sphere of activity as he knows his own house. In other words, if he enters his own home he knows the location of chairs and obstructions and can find his way through the darkness. In the same token he is supposed to know the particular sphere, i. e. the block assigned to him, so that his place of duty is the place where he has been assigned to work. He knows where the precinct post is, and naturally, because of his intimate knowledge of the precinct and his own particular station, if no one is in command of the precinct post he would be expected to take charge of the situation until his superiors arrive.

The purpose of carrying an arm band at all times is to afford him safe conduct through the lines to his respective place and station. The arm band, plus the identifying card which accompanies it, is sufficient for him to get to his station. If, however, he is at such a distance from his designated place and station so that it would be impossible for him to reach said station prior to the ending of the air raid drill, then he should:

(1)—Notify his precinct commander of the situation

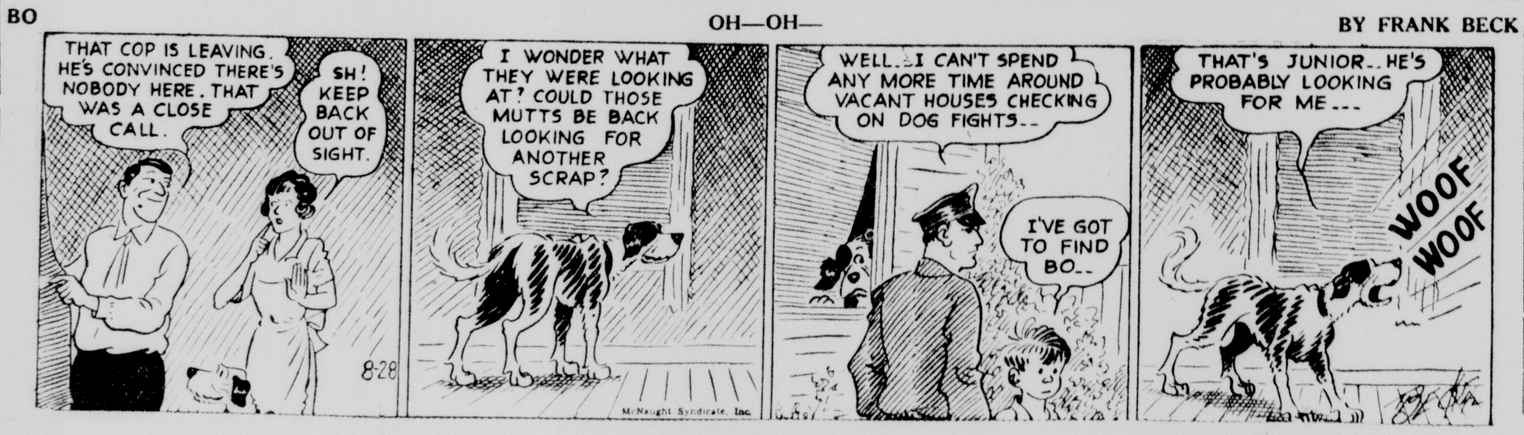

(2)—Report to the nearest precinct post and offer his services to the person in charge of that precinct post, and should thereafter be under such direction.

To repeat—the air raid warden is not expected to work the streets wherever he might be, his place is at his designated station and if he can't get there he should either get in touch with the nearest precinct post or get in touch with his Chief Air Raid Warden for the respective political subdivision and be governed by the Chief Air Raid Warden's instructions.

It is absolutely true that the air raid warden is the educator and instructor, so that the rest of your admonition was to the point and in accordance with the general understanding affecting the operation or civilian defense. A thorough knowledge of the requirements of the office plus the exercise of a great deal of common sense will be more productive of good than all the force we could possibly apply.

Yours truly,
L. B. ROUND,
Executive Director.

Congressman Graham Is Rotary Speaker

War Situation As Seen By Congress Is Topic Of Address At Slippery Rock Church

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 28.—The war situation as seen by Congress was the general subject of a talk given to members of the Rotary club last night at the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church by Congressman, Louis Graham. Rotary Anns were special guests.

There are now four million men in the Army, he said, and the goal is an Army of nine and one-half million men, and a Navy of one million men with three thousand ships.

Sacrifice is only beginning, he pointed out, and life will never be the same again with the re-adjustments that will necessarily follow the war. Rubber, tin and oil will won the war, he stated, and said that today the Axis controls 90 per cent of the world's output of rubber, 91 percent of the tin; and only 2 per cent of the oil, thus the present great conflict in Russia to obtain more oil. He predicted a five year war with ten million women in industry before the conflict is over.
